Eleven Dead In Illinois and Maryland Second With Five Fatalities

A careful canvass of the United States by International News Service this afternoon revealed that thirty persons were killed in automobile accidents Christmas day and today.

They were motor mishaps of different kinds, twenty of the deaths resulting from crashes at grade crossings.

Illinois led the death list with eleven. Next came Maryland with five fatilities. Missouri reported four and California three.

Upwards of sixty-five persons suffered injuries in motor car accidents.

Poisoned Liquor

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The death toll from poison holiday liquor was expected to mount today when police complete a check of the city's morgues and hospitals.

Three persons are known to have died from drinking. Nine others, including three women, are in the hospital. Six were reported in a serious condition.

Forty persons were found unconscious in the streets in the last 48 hours, but their condition did not warrant hospital treatment.

Of the dead, two were women, Mrs. Anna Schuyler, 64, and Mrs. Eva Brown, 62.

Among those seriously ill was a 15-year-old school boy.

Girls Escape Death

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 26.—Poison liquor almost brought a tragic end to the Christmas celebration of four girls and a boy here early this morning. City hospital physicians worked over them desperately all night to save their lives.

Dora, Pearl and Ruth Williams, and Marie Clark, ranging from 16 to 20 years, accepted an invitation of Wesley Lurie, 19, to take a Christmas drink from his flask, according to the police.

Soon afterward the girls and Lurie became violently ill. Police were summoned by a neighbor.

Officers are seeking the source of Lurie's booze supply.

Dead of Moonshine

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Christmas hooch killed three in Chicago, according to police reports today. Molly McCarthy was found dead after a night of moonshine and revelry with her husband, Cornelius McCarthy, and another man.

Eight Are Dead From Bad Booze On Christmas Day

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Either prohibition liquor is improving or the United States is drinking less of the prohibition liquor that is getting worse and worse, for in this country of 110,000,000 persons, only eight died from their Christmas day tippling, according to a careful canvass today.

New York and Chicago were tied for the lead, with three dead each. Philadelphia and Birmingham, Ala., each reported one moonshine fatality.

Suicides Spread Gloom When Five Die by Own Hand

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Christmas joy gave way to mourning today for five men who took their lives yesterday in fits of despondency. Two women and a man who attempted suicide are in hospitals.

S. Z. Larsen, a carpenter, left a note wishing "a happy new year to all," before he turned on the gas. George McKnight, 60, also died by the gas route. He had been depressed.

John Brown, ill and out of work, turned on the gas. Thomas O'Neill killed himself while his family and friends were planning a surprise party to welcome him home from a hospital. The body of a man believed to be Frank S. Cushak was found on the subway tracks.

SEEK TO ADD TERRITORY TO U. S.

Navy's Polar Expedition May Bring Huge Area Under American Flag

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—More than a million square miles of territory may be added to the United States as a result of the navy's projected expedition into the Arctic circle, it was declared at the navy department today.

This big expanse of lands, most of it covered with ice, is believed to be between Alaska and the north pole.

Ordinary exploration, scientific investigation, and pioneer work have been officially designated by Secretary of the Navy Denby as the purposes of the forthcoming aerial trip to the top of the world aboard the dirigible Shenandoah, but the hope that will fire the hearts of those who take part in the expedition will be to plant the American flag in some undiscovered land, thereby adding it to the dominions of the United States.

Plans worked out for the north pole trip provide for the use of Nome, Alaska, as an operating base. It is 1500 nautical miles from Nome to the pole.

WORLD COURT IS DOOMED, BELIEF

G. O. P. Senate Leaders Consign Plan for U. S. Adherence to Pigeon Hole

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—"Death in a pigeon hole," is the sentence that has apparently been decided upon by Republican leaders of the Senate in the case of the world court.

Advocates of American adherence to the court were reluctantly forced to this conclusion today after ineffectual efforts to obtain from Senator Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts, even an approximate date upon which the foreign affairs committee might get down to the business of considering the court matter.

Three separate plans are before the committee for putting the United States into the permanent court of justice, organized under the League of Nations, and all of them are backed by powerful campaigns fostered principally by the Federal Council of Churches.

Spanish Authorities Foil Communist Plot

MADRID, Dec. 26.—Forty communists have been arrested in this city, Seville, San Sebastian and Bilbao, frustrating a communist plot that was to have come to a climax Friday, according to information obtained here.

It is claimed that the conspiracy, which was aimed at the Spanish directory, was engineered and financed from Moscow.

The police are searching for the communist leader Luis Portola, who escaped.

GIVE UP ALL HOPE FOR AIRSHIP

Giant Dirigible Dixmude Is Irrevocably Lost, Say French Officers

BULLETIN

PARIS, Dec. 26.—The giant French dirigible Dixmude with fifty persons on board, which set out last week to fly across the Mediterranean to Algiera, was still missing at 3 o'clock this afternoon and hope for saving the airship had been abandoned.

The official list of passengers and crew, published by the ministry of marine this afternoon listed nine captains, one doctor and four lieutenant commanders and thirty-six mechanics, quartermasters and wireless operators.

By HARRY R. FLOREY
For International News Service.

PARIS, Dec. 26.—Hope for the safety of the giant dirigible Dixmude with fifty persons on board, which has been missing since last Friday when she started across the Mediterranean for Algiers, was officially abandoned today.

Officials of the ministry of marine said they were convinced that the Dixmude had either been blown into the Mediterranean or had been forced to land upon the Sahara desert.

After sifting all reports, the marine officials said they were convinced that the last authentic report from the Dixmude was a wireless received at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

At that time the Dixmude was over the Gulf of Gabes, drifting eastward. Wireless reports received after that which were thought to have come from the Dixmude are now believed to have been spurious.

Fear Loss at Sea

As the wind has been blowing steadily from the west, marine officials discount later reports that the Dixmude was seen over Southern Tunis.

General belief is that the Dixmude, lacking fuel and with one motor out of commission, was forced down into the Mediterranean.

French destroyers and submarine chasers are searching the sea and in the meantime, wireless stations along the Mediterranean are continuously sending out wireless messages addressed to the Dixmude.

American Embassy Shaken By Explosion

Himeon, in South Harvard boulevard, Woodrow Reed, 11, and Volin Samuel, 14, confessed today they had robbed ten other homes during the past two weeks, according to the police. The boys are held by juvenile authorities while efforts are being made to connect them with other robberies.

SEVEN DEAD FROM DEADLY GAS FUMES

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The bodies of two women and a man, killed by illuminating gas, were found today in an apartment in Long Island City. The bodies of John McIntyre, his wife and Mrs. Mary Smith, a visitor, lay on the kitchen floor. This brought the total of deaths by gas in twenty-four hours to seven. The other four were Christmas day suicides. Police began an investigation to determine if the additional deaths were accidental.

FEDERALS PREDICTING NEW VICTORIES

LAREDO, Texas, Dec. 26.—"Jalisco will be totally subdued in eight days and Vera Cruz in the hands of the federal government in fifteen," stated a message from President Obregon to the Mexican consul here today. Two thousand revolutionaries were captured in the recent fighting at Puebla, the dispatch said, with the federals now possessing abundant arms and ammunition.

HOLLYWOOD THEATRE ROBBERY FOILED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—Threatening to kill two janitors if they made an outcry, three bandits entered the Grauman Egyptian theatre in Hollywood early today, bound and gagged the janitors and then, with acetylele torches burnt off the combination of the theatre's big safe, only to find it empty, according to Sid Grauman, owner of the big show house. The bandits, after opening the safe, escaped a few minutes later, without visiting the box office, where, according to other officials of the theatre, was a smaller safe containing several thousand dollars.

Hope For Vessels As Coast Gale Subsides

SEATTLE, Dec. 26.—With the announcement from the weather bureau today that the gale which swept the Pacific northwest Christmas has completely subsided, maritime men held optimistic hopes for half a dozen vessels which were in distress in Puget sound and along the coast.

The most serious accident of the storm befell the Mitsui & Co. freighter, Yogen Maru, which went aground in the gale near the entrance of Gray's Harbor. Tugs which had been ordered to her assistance from Aberdeen reported today that the ship was in grave danger of being battered to pieces by the breakers, but that it would probably be possible to save all hands.

The British steamer Author, which was in distress between Umatilla and Gray's harbor, had her engines going again today and was proceeding to Tacoma. The freighter Baron Jedburgh, after being tossed about badly, finally was towed to Tacoma.

Separation From Her Children Drives Woman to Suicide

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Mary Bartna, 42, today is dead by her own hand. Police called to her home discovered the body hanging from a beam in the basement. Bartna told officers his wife was disconsolate over separation at Christmas time from her children, who are in Bohemia.

She will recover.

PROBE LOOMS IN LIQUOR SCANDAL

Prosecutor to Follow Trail Furnished by Bootleg Shopping List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The famous bootlegger client list, said to contain the names of 1400 prominent Washington figures, and for which the capital has been on the qui vive for a week, was officially listed as "missing in action" today. And, in the language of the war communique, "little hope is held out for its recovery.'

Arthur N. Presmont, assistant district attorney, in charge of prosecuting liquor cases, threatened one investigation today and the drys in congress were threatening another.

"Warrants will be issued before the end of the week for those involved in the case," said Presmont, "and I am going to find out what became of that list. I don't care whether they are members of the cabinet or of congress. Their names are on the list, and if we can prove they bought liquor from the bootleggers, they will be prosecuted.

REPORTED ENGAGED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—Granville Proctor Sully, against whom Yvonne Darcy, pretty young dancer and film extra, recently filed a $200,000 damage suit, alleging he attacked her, and Miss Kathleen Huntington, were reliably reported to be engaged today. The young couple are said to have admitted that they have obtained a license to wed, but refused to reveal their plans.

BIG BOOSTER JUBILEE TO BE STAGED JANUARY 5

Glendale Realty Board to Be In Charge; Everybody To Participate

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff.

The mammoth parade that is being planned to celebrate the attainment of the $10,000,000 goal in building permits for 1923, and which is to be combined into a community boost for the sewer bonds that are to be voted on at the election on January 8, 1924, will be held on the afternoon of Saturdayfi January 5, at 2:30 o'clock, according to arrangements completed by L. H. Myers, chairman of the advertising committee of the Glendale Realty Board.

Mr. Myers made his announcement at the weekly luncheon of the board in the Egyptian Village at noon today, coupling it with the assurance that the ten million dollars in building permits for this year is practcially assured already.

As already reported in The Glendale Evening News, the plans for this parade have been under consideration at the meetings of the Glendale Realty Board for the past month, and today's announcement by Mr. Myers gives the final details of the project, with the exception of the route to be followed, which will be made public within a few days.

Everyone to Help

Every organization in Glendale is to be asked to participate in the parade, which is to be a community affair from start to finish. Rotary, Exchange, Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, the city council, every civic and social body in Glendale, will be invited to take an active part in the big celebration, in which it is hoped to have close to one thousand automobiles loaded to the brim with cheering enthusiasts who are filled with the spirit that has made Glendale the fastest growing city in America.

Plans are afoot now to secure the Elks' band, the Sciots' band and the Community band to furnish the music for the parade, and places will be found in the automobiles for students from the local schools, the boys and girls who will form the next generation to whom the welfare of the city will be entrusted.

Moving Pictures

Another feature in connection with the parade that is practically certain of accomplishment, said Mr. Myers, is the taking of moving pictures by the leading distributors of newsreels in the country, and with these pictures displayed in the motion picture theatres of the country it is estimated that at least fifty million people will learn of Glendale and its progress.

The parade will, in addition to celebrating the issue of $10,000,000 in building permits during the past twelve months, wind up the sewer bond campaign in a riot of enthusiasm for the proposed $1,600,000 improvement to the city's sanitary system that will insure a sweeping majority for the bond issue that the citizens are asked to authorize.

DEATH SUMMONS PIONEER CITIZEN

William Chappell Stricken by Fatal Heart Seizure at Glendale Home

Death, following a fatal attack of heart failure, this morning claimed William Chappell, pioneer Glendale merchant, at the family residence, 205 Dayton court. Mr. Chappell has suffered two paralytic strokes in the last twelve months, but recently had been in exceptionally good spirits, attending a family Christmas dinner in Pasadena, yesterday. This morning he arose as usual, ate breakfast, and was seated in a chair in the sitting room when the end came. Mrs. Chappell was in a neighbor's house at the time, and responding to a call from a guest in her home, returned to find her husband breathing his last.

Mr. Chappell was one of the earliest settlers in Yolo county, purchasing a ranch there shortly after the Civil war, in 1869. He had been a resident of Glendale since 1909, entering the dry goods business here just north of where the Egyptian Village now stands. Glendale at that time had a population of 3,000. Later he moved across the street, selling out the store nine years later on account of failing health.

Civil War Veteran

Mr. Chappell, who was 79 years of age, was born in England in 1844. He came to America with his parents when but four years of age, settling in Bunker Hill, Ill. Here he spent his boyhood, and enlisted in Company G, 150th Illinois Volunteers in the Civil war, with which he served ten months. In 1869 he trekked across country to Yolo county, purchasing a ranch, on which he lived 20 years, when he returned to Holden, Mo. During this time Mr. Chappell had been very unfortunate in losing two wives.

Upon his return to Missouri, he married Miss Henrietta Briggs. In 1909 they again returned to California, settling in Glendale. He

Comb L. A. Harbor For Absconder In $2,000,000 Theft

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—The nation-wide hunt for Leo Koertz, missing Chicago capitalist, who is said to have absconded with $2,000,000 gained through his "Bayano river" swindle, shifted to Southern California today when the police combed Los Angeles harbor for him.

The authorities also sought a beautiful young woman who is believed to have fled from Chicago with him. Several incoming vessels were thoroughly searched for Koertz, but no trace of him was found. Koertz is reported attempting to leave the United States, probably for Honolulu, and it was believed he might try to leave from this port.

Oliver of 819 South Central avenue, complimenting Robert Holland. The affair also proved to be in the nature of a reunion of young people who were all students of the Glendale High school and now students at various colleges, who have returned home for the Yuletide season.

The Oliver home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with holly, evergreens, red bells and other holiday decorations. Dainty Christmas favors presented each guest were also carried out in the holiday season's design.

The evening was devoted to music, games and dancing. At a late hour a dainty course of refreshments were served.

Those present were the Misess Sarah Allen, Eunice Beere, Dorothy Carmack, Cecil Chase, Louise Hollenbeck, Genevieve Mulligan, Virginia Thom of Glendale and Maxine Bettier, and Clare Kaufer of Hollywood, Helen Wilkinson of Los Angeles and Messrs. Home Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Sunday, December 23, 1923, when Miss Daisy Lee Hughes and William H. Thompson were united in marriage at 6 o'clock in the new home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed P. Hughes, 1142 Campbell street. Dr. H. I. Rasmus, pastor of the First Methodist church, was the officiant, the single ring ceremony being used. There were over forty relatives and friends present.

The Hughes home was a bower of greenery and white blossoms. An archway of greenery with sprays of white blossoms and roses and a huge white wedding bell of white roses formed an artistic setting for the reading of the marriage service. A large white "H" for Hughes and a "T" for Thompson were suspended from the ceiling directly above the bridal couple and at the close of the ceremony the "H" was drawn away leaving only the "T."

Miss Hughes wore a rich bridal gown of white silk canton crepe trimmed with silk lace. She wore a silver wreath of rose buds in her hair and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and maiden-hair fern.

The wedding date chosen by Miss Hughes and Mr. Thompson was the twentieth wedding anniversary of Miss Hughes' parents. Miss Hughes carried a point lace handkerchief which was carried by her mother on her wedding day.

The bridal couple were unattended.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thompson greeted their friends at a reception. At this time Mrs. Thompson cut her wedding cake which was served with ice cream. Mrs. Hughes was assisted by Mrs. W. C. Stiles of Fort Worth, Texas, and Miss Dirgie Wilson of Azusa, aunt and cousin of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left by motor for the north on their wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Burbank.

Mr. Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson of Burbank, where he is in business.

Claim Women Passengers Are More Forgetful; Odd Things Found

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Women are more forgetful than men!

Prove it?

Simple! Just ask Edward J. Brill. Brill is the party to whom all articles lost by the 2,491,209,810 persons who annually ride on New York's subways and elevated lines eventually come.

But let Brill tell his own story:

"Psychoanalysts might solve the complex of the New York straphanger—that is, a Freud might.

"For Gothamites, Brooklynites and the other members of the army of 7,500,000 daily passengers who drop their nickels into transit fare boxes do things almost beyond belief.

"The subway has two perfectly good tombstones—left on trains by women passengers. Believe it or not, it's a fact. Both are inscribed in loving memory of a husband who but recently passed away. From the stations at which the tombstones were found, abandoned in a subway train, it is clear the widows were carrying them to a graveyard, supposedly to have them set up as markers of their dear departed's graves.

Lost Her Dough

"But that's nothing.

"Just a day or two ago a pan of hot, freshly-made bread dough, all neatly wrapped in a blanket, came in. That one is without a solution. What could cause a woman to take a pan of hot, rising bread dough, wrap it up, carry it to a subway and then walk off and leave it?

"What would anybody be doing with four live mice—not white mice—just the common or kitchen variety, all wrapped up in a box?

"Another lost package contained 14 bricks.

"Still another, about the same size, was a case of Scotch! Yes, sir; a conductor turned it in!"

These, Brill explains, are just the "exceptions."

Umbrellas—by the thousand.

Purses—ten thousand a year.

New hats, skirts (in bundles)—filmy pink things in countless lots. Groceries—enough to stock a half dozen stores.

Forget Turkeys

"At Christmas time we find enough turkeys to feed a small army," Brill explains.

These, it is claimed, are the losses by the women passengers.

For the men!

This is Brill again:

"Authors—movie scenario writers and poets—head the list. One day the found manuscripts totaled 229.

"Plumbers are forgetters, too. Right now we have 227 plumber kits unclaimed in the office."

Some of the other finds now on hand include:

Doctors' kits and cases, 122.

Engineering maps and plans, 96.

Dentists' equipments, 86.

Lawyers' briefcases, 214.

These, says Brill, check up to the men.

In addition — but one would have to see the roomfull of sport goods found to appreciate it.

There are fishing poles by the thousand; golf sticks, bags, and a pair of golf knickers, with a tuxedo coat, in the same package.

"One would look like George Harvey with that outfit," an assistant suggests.

"He'd feel like the Prince of Wales," Brill replies.

But then you can't tell what New Yorkers will leave in the subway next.

A man with an ungovernable temper is a volcano within himself.

Cirrus clouds give a warning of from twelve to twenty-four hours before wet weather sets in.

LIST CLOSED! NO MORE WHITE HOUSE PETS, ORDER

Dogs, Cats and Horse Will Rule Without Any Further Competition

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. —It's all over.

President Coolidge, alive to the seriousness of the situation, acted quickly, and the threatened revolt of certain residents of the White House died aborning. Revolt in the White H ouse! What's the world coming to?

Imagine the White House without a pet. After the Roosevelts and their pony, dogs and regular zoo; the Wilsons and their sheep; the Hardings and Laddie Boy.

Well, the White House would have been bare and desolate if President Coolidge hadn't acted quickly, and stifled the flames of revolt by committing himself to a definite, irrevocable policy. And that is an uncomfortable thing for a president to do.

"General," the President's horse, and "Tige" and "Blackie," Mrs. Coolidge's kittens, and "Paul Pry" and "Peter Pan," the White House dogs, thought enough was enough when "Oshkosh," a milk-white collie from Wisconsin, came to join them and share the affections of the first lady and gentleman of the land.

A howl went up. A walkout was threatened.

And all the noise wasn't made by the animals. Friends of the president, fearful of an issue being made of the increasing number of White House job holders, chimed in.

So President Coolidge has ruled with august finality that the lists are closed. The dogs and cats and "General" will rule the White House campus without further competition.

SALMON SPAWN IN FALL

Salmon and trout lay their eggs in the Autumn. The hen fish seems to plow right in the gravelly bottom with her body and the trench in which she finally lays her eggs may be full ten feet long. The trench then is covered up, both parents joining in the work until it becomes a mound. The salmon lays about nine hundred eggs for each pound of her weight. The American salmon, unlike those that live in other waters, are peculiar in that the parent salmon seldom get back to sea alive.

United States has 3,885 creameries.

LOST CHANCE IN RACE BY HATRED

Liberal Candidate Said He Would Quit If Lloyd George Returned

LONDON, Jan. 1.—John Zora, defeated Liberal candidate in the last English general election, now probably is a firm believer in the old maxim, "Speak in haste and repent at leisure."

Zore contested East Lewisham division in the election, but came out at the bottom of the poll. In his election addresses he professed himself to be an avowed anti-Lloyd Georgette, and at one of his meetings he was carried away by his hatred of the wily Welshman to the extent that he declared that if ever Lloyd George returned to the ranks of the Liberal party he (Zore) would throw up his candidature.

Today it is common knowledge that Lloyd George has returned to the Liberal fold, and so Zore finds himself compelled to keep out of the fray at the present election.

In an address to the electors, Zore declared that fate has decided the issue, but he will fight on the side of the present Liberal candidate for the division as if the battle were his own.

Alabama Town Is Now Watercress 'Capital'

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Dec. 26.—The annual harvest of watercress on the fresh-water ponds of Madison county was begun recently, and large quantities of the plant are being shipped daily to the hotels of cities all over the country. Most of the watercress rights on the ponds of this region are held by Frank Dennis, who began the business in a small way several years ago and now has one of the largest harvests of this plant in America.

HILDEBRAND HAS STRONG VEHICLE

Plays Opposite Miss Elliott In 'Pollyanna' at Club Theatre Tonight

As their second offering in Glendale, the Royal Stock company tonight will present "Pollyanna" at the Tuesday Afternoon Club Theatre.

The story of Pollyanna is one that appeals to both young and old, and the management of the company promises a real treat to Glendalians in presenting it in the spoken drama. It has an abundance of wholesome comedy with just enough tears sprinkled throughout the story to touch every heart.

RODNEY HILDEBRAND
Playing in "Pollyanna" at the Tuesday Afternoon Club Theatre, where the Royal Stock company is presenting its second play in Glendale.

Edythe Elliott has the leading feminine role as the "glad girl," while playing opposite her is Rodney Hildebrand. A large supporting cast gives assurance of a well-balanced play.

Curtain rises at 8:20 o'clock.

BRING CHEER TO FORTY FAMILIES

Clubs of City Aid Welfare Council in Distributing Gifts Among Poor

Christmas day was made much brighter for over forty families in Glendale by the Glendale Welfare Council, which took holiday dinners, clothing, toys and other useful articles to the various homes, where illness or meagre finances brought real need and unhappiness.

Mrs. E. D. Yard, president of the Welfare Council, was most hearty in her appreciation, expressed this morning to all who assisted in any way.

Special mention was made of the Exchange club, the First Methodist church, Congregational church, Baptist church, Lutheran church, Episcopal church, Casa Verdugo Methodist church, and other local churches; the Foothill club, the boys and girls of the Glendale Union High school, and the individual donors of money, clothing and other things.

The donations from the high school pupils were a real feature of the work done, for the boys had made many toys and the girls had made countless warm garments.

"It was a wonderful spirit shown by all who assisted," said Mrs. Yard, "and as president of the Welfare Council, I want to thank everyone who helped."

Other officers of the council are C. E. Kimlin, vice-president; Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, treasurer; Mrs. L. T. Rowely, secretary; Mrs. F. S. Card, director.

Wood's Son Cleans Up Fortune In Wall St.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. — Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood, 26, son and military aide of Governor-General Leonard Wood, of the Philippines, has made a fortune through transactions in Wall street, his brother, Leonard Wood, Jr., said here today in confirming reports that Lieutenant Wood is soon to retire from the army.

As a result of his clean-up in stocks and bonds deals during the last two years, Lieutenant Wood intends to return to the United States in February, resign from the army and enter the diplomatic service, an ambition he has cherished since childhood. Wood's fortune is estimated at between $800,000 and $1,000,000.

'Hour-Glass' Stomach Causes Woman's Death

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The "hour-glass" stomach is the newest freak illness.

The new disease came to light at an inquest on an elderly woman who had suddenly died while in apparent good health. Testifying as to the cause of death, her doctor said that she suffered from chronic indigestion and an hour-glass stomach, meaning that the stomach was in two parts—food having to pass like the sand in an hour-glass from the upper to the lower portion to insure perfect digestion.

Her last meal had failed to pass into the lower portion of her stomach and had caused death, according to the doctor.

had resided here continuously since that time. He had a host of friends among the older residents of the city who will be saddened to hear of his sudden death.

Wife and Children

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, J. H. Chappell of Bloomfield, Iowa; a daughter, Mrs. A. B. Newlin of Holden, Mo.; three nieces, Misses Celia and Ella Bastian of Hollywood and Mrs. C. M. Whittam of Huntington Beach.

He had been a very generous contributor to the support of the Glendale Presbyterian church, of which he had been a member since 1909, and was identified with the local post of the G. A. R.

Criminal Element Is Deported by Soviet

MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—The soviet government has begun to clean up Moscow, and rid the city of all undesirable residents of both sexes.

M. Dzherzhinsky, head of the police, announced the deportation of ninety-one "undesirables" to Archangel, Turkistan and Siberia.

The deportees included 453 money lenders, 156 persons convicted of swindling, 120 sumgglers and money speculators, 110 bootleggers, twenty-four peddlers of narcotic drugs and fifty-three women convicted of immorality. Previously 534 had been deported.

Place Mexico Cotton Crop at 75,000 Bales

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26.—The Mexican cotton crop for 1923 is estimated at 75,0000 bales, the majority of which comes from the Laguna district, in the state of Chihuahua and Lower California. Government statistics place consumption of raw cotton by native mills at 16,000,000 kilos for the last six months; while production of cotton cloth by the 112 mills in operation in that period is placed at 153,490,000 meters, valued at $20,100,000.

The woman orator stood upon her platform and looked over the sea of faces, states Cartoons.

"Where would man be today were it not for woman?" she inquired.

She paused a moment.

"Again I repeat," she said, "where would man be today were it not for woman?"

"In the Garden of Eden," answered a male voice from the rear.

Removes Tooth From Ear, Hearing Returns

WOODLAND, Dec. 26.—Extraction of a tooth, which Peter Shellhammer, taxicab driver, pulled out some fifteen years ago while a schoolboy and pushed into his ear, has completely restored his hearing.

Until the specialist removed the tooth from the eustachian tube, Shellhammer's parents refused to believe his story that the tooth was causing paralysis of the auditory nerve.

With the production of the ivory and restoration of hearing, they were convinced.

While the diagnosis of the patient, who had eaten rather generously, was proceeding, the sick man said, "Doctor, do you think the trouble is in the appendix?"

"Oh, no," said the doctor, "not at all. The trouble is with your table of contents."—Western Christian Advocate.

Watches Porker Eat Roll of Greenbacks

SONORA, Dec. 26. — George Hamill, local butcher, recently dropped a roll of greenbacks totaling $80, while looking at some fat hogs, but managed to "reclaim" bills to the exetent of $25.

Discovering his loss, Hamill returned to the pen just in time to recover three $5 bills and one ten-dollar denomination, which were disappearing in the jaws of a porker.

The remaining bills with a value of $55 had disappeared forever.

"You have heard what the last witness said," persisted counsel, "and yet your evidence is to the contrary. Am I to infer that you wish to throw doubt on her veracity?"

The polite young man waved a deprecating hand.

"Not at all," he replied. "I merely wish to make it clear what a liar I am if she's speaking the truth."—Tit-Bits (London).

Wraps Dog With Flag; Owner Goes to Jail

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 1.—You can't use the American flag as a blanket for your dog—not in Birmingham, anyway.

John Morald and his dog "Boots," hiking from Boston to New Orleans, spent a night in jail when they passed through here recently, all because "Boots" had the Stars and Stripes wrapped about him to keep out the cold.

Arthur Greenwood, commander of the American Legion post, happened to see the two and warned Morald to remove the flag from the dog's back because it was improperly displayed. Morald refused and was arrested.

After a night in jail, however, Morald apologized before Judge Abernathy and was allowed to proceed on his journey with the promise not to use the flag in that manner again.

Belittle not the smallest gift, as the donor perhaps entailed a great sacrifice.

PLAN BIG RALLY NEXT WEDNESDAY

Realty Board Will Sponsor Luncheon For Boosting Sewer Bonds

Meeting for a final concentration of efforts in the drive to put over the sewer bond issue at the election January 8, the entire precinct organization, consisting of captains, their teams and others working for the project, will hold a noon luncheon in one of the local churches next Wednesday. This was decided today noon at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Realty Board, held in the Egyptian Village.

This luncheon will be turned into a big enthusiastic rally in favor of the bonds, and the Realty Board, it was decided today, will not hold its regular noon meeting on that day.

Reporting for C. W. Ingledue, chairman of the Realty Board precinct organization, C. D. Thom stated that they were receiving hearty co-operation from other clubs in canvassing the city and working in the interest of the bonds.

It was reported also that several ministers of the city have promised to speak in favor of the bonds before their congregations next Sunday.

A letter was read from the West Glendale Protective association, asking that representatives of the board appear before the city council Thursday morning, when the application for a permit for the automobile camp grounds on South San Fernando road and Riverdale drive comes up for consideration.

The board voted to send representatives before the council to protest reissuance of the permit.

JOHNSTON HEADS EXCHANGE CLUB

Officers Chosen to Direct Organization's Work During Next Year

R. E. Johnston was elected president of the Glendale Exchange club to succeed D. Ripley Jackson at the noon luncheon of the organization in the Egyptian Village today. Other officers were named as follows:

Dr. Henry R. Harrower, vice-president; George H. Thomas, treasurer. Directors: L. F. Millett, Dr. T. P. Noehle, W. H. Daniel, F. C. Butler, D. Ripley Jackson, George A. Whitaker and M. Coye.

The election committee consisted of C. M. Millet, chairman; Judge Harry Chase and C. W. Anspaugh.

Preceding the election Mr. Johnston was awarded a handsome gold watch by the club for having brought in the greatest number of new members during the campaign which has just closed.

A large collection of gifts was given the retiring president, by the club. The club members were treated to a large box of chocolates by Dennis & Edwards, located on East Broadway.

CAVE-INS SWELL MINE FATALITIES

U. S. Bureau Report Blames Roof Falls, Not Gasses, For Many Deaths

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The widespread attention given to fatalities in coal mines from explosions has resulted in the common supposition that gas and coal dust form the main hazards of mining, but the bureau of mines has found that, if the death from falls of roof and coal could be eliminated, the number of miners killed would be cut approximately in half.

In his annual report Director Foster H. Bains points out these deaths occur singly or in pairs in the dark recesses of the mine when the top falls in or when the men are engaged in "robbing" pillars. The deaths from roof falls aggregated 900 during 1922. The fact this number is less than the total during the several preceding years is due to thousands of miners being idle for several montths during the bituminous coal strike.

"The larger part of the responsibility for decreasing this class of accidents may fairly be placed on the miners themselves," Director Dains said. "Most of the falls occur at the working places, and the miners there are better able to observe the conditions under which they work and to tell when the roof should be taken down or additional props put up than anyone else."

Large Per Cent

For the eleven-year period ending with 1922, 47.84 per cent of all fatalities were due to falls of roof and coal; 16.85 per cent were caused by mine cars and locomotives, 11.25 per cent by gas and coal dust explosions, 6.04 per cent by explosives and 3.47 per cent by electricity. During his period 25,975 men were killed in coal mines. Approximately 90 per cent of all the deaths occurred underground.

"Although the Bureau of Mines can say positively that widespread explosions of coal dust no longer should occur, the fact remains they continue," Director Bains pointed out. "In 1922 gas and coal-dust explosions took a toll of 311 lives, or 15.78 per cent of the total deaths. Until the late series of disastrous explosions the lessening explosions in recent years had led the Bureau to feel that the dangers from this source were being eliminated."

Preventive Methods

Two effective methods of preventing the spreading through a coal mine of a minor initial explosion have been demonstrated by the Bureau at its experimental mine near Pittsburgh, where more than 500 experimental explosions have been produced and to which the explosibility of coal dusts from all parts of the country has been studied. The first method is to wet the dust so thoroughly that no dry dust remains in the mine. The second is to dilute the coal dust with shale dust, limestone dust, or other non-inflammable dust, so that flame will not pass from point to point.

Many Needless

"From its years of study of coal-dust explosions the Bureau of Mines can say that great explosions should not be considered as normal occupational hazards," Director Bains said. "Explosions can and must be prevented from spreading throughout the underground workings of a mine. Miners and operators, as well as mine inspectors, must take hold of the situation promptly and vigorously, or there will be still more serious explosions and more men killed."

Director Bains cited the need for an intensified safety campaign among miners, operators and inspectors to maintain diligence in observing the precautions which will lead to the prevention of accidents. This includes a wider dissemination of the knowledge already acquired by the Bureau of Mines and the agencies which have been co-operating with it.

Oil Lands Leased

The report points out the Federal Government has been leasing oil lands for more than three years, having begun on February 25, 1920, when it departed from its historic policy of selling mineral lands and substituted a leasing system. During this period the public lands have yielded 9,061,120 barrels of royalty oil, valued at $13,331,906, and the added 3,461,695 barrels of royalty oil, valued at $4,222,560.

Coal is now being mined on public lands under lease in Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming. Prospecting permits have been issued covering areas in these states and in Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and South Dakota.

M'GRAW PLOTS TO GET NEW TALENT

Dicker With Philadelphia to Bring Fast Pair to Giants' Standard

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Another New York-Philadelphia transaction, whereby the Giants will acquire title to Jimmy Ring, one of the best right-handers in baseball, and "Butch" Henline, probably the best of the young catchers, is said to be in the process of cooking. According to all accounts, McGraw is prepared to do some very handsome player juggling for the boon of this pair's permanent society.

The names of John Watson and John Scott, pitchers; Jack Bentley, pitcher, first baseman and pinch-hitter, and Frank Snyder, veteran catcher, have been mentioned, offhand, as possible pawns in the deal.

For once, William Baker is alleged to have spurned the villain's gold in figuring upon the details of the trade, and is demanding pitchers who can pitch and hitters who can hit. William still esteems money very highly, but the contemporaneous Connie Mack has cramped Mr. Baker's style not a little by rushing into print with tales of fabulous purchases. William cannot very well afford to engage in his selling enterprises with his rival abandoning salesmanship in favor of buying.

Bentley Great Player

In this case he can show some constructive results in the event that men like Bentley, Watson and Snyder are included in the deal. Bentley cost McGraw some $65,000 only a year ago, and is really a great ball player. He was something of a flop as a left-hand pitcher, but topped the National league in pinch-hitting, compiling the plausible average of .427 in 52 games. He would go very big in Philadelphia with that trick fence in right field as a target.

Snyder fell off in his work last season, but still has plenty of good baseball between his cap and his insteps. Watson is a good pitcher. So is Scott, when the spirit moves him. The latter has outlasted his welcome here, however, and it is understood that McGraw is ready to dispose of him.

Would Be Winner

The character of such a trade from a New York standpoint is obvious. Ring would be a big winner with a team like the Giants behind him and, although it is pretty generally know that Ring and Art Fletcher are in perfect accord, it is taken for granted that the pitcher would welcome a change of scene. Henline is frankly dissatisfied in Philadelphia.

In fact, he made no secret of his elation at the recent Chicago baseball meetings when backstairs gossip had it that he was soon to become a Giant again. He is one of McGraw's discoveries, and was shifted to Philadelphia in one of those innumerable New York-Philadelphia trades, a deal that both McGraw and Henline lived to regret.

SEEK MAULER TO DEFEAT DEMPSEY

Eugene Corri, Noted British Referee, Says England Is After Title

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—John Bull has properly adjusted his monocle—he's going to find a heavyweight to match with Jack Dempsey or box himself to death in the attempt.

Such, at least, is the prediction of Eugene Corri, England's famous referee, who tells of the virtual White Hope epidemic raging in the British Isles.

It's as bad, said Corri, as the malady through which the United States passed after Jim Jeffries went to sleep down in Havana after Jack Johnson had found the button.

Corri credits the picturesque Tex O'Rourke as the germ which has infected the Britishers. Tex, it seems, is going hither and yon and elsewhere from Cork to the northern extremity of the home of the stuff the Atlantic rum fleet is selling off Sandy Hook, hunting in every nook and corner for a baily bounder to do fisticuffs with the Manassa Mauler for one of Tex Rickard's million-dollar presents.

Corri says:

"O'Rourke has three young giants under his wing now. Money, patience and experience are being lavished on the trio.

"'Peggy' Bettinson, another trainer, has a string of huskies, too. He is trying out his young men at Covent Garden.

"Fifty strapping striplings have sent their names in to 'Peggy' as candidates.

"I have lived a long time, but never have I seen so many boys anxious to don the padded mitts as the present crop. It may be the tales of the money being paid for fisticuffs in America has much to do with the abundant crop of hopefuls.

"The fever has spread to the London 'bobbies.' At all the barracks they are learning the art of sock.

"One 'peeler'—Glyn Frank Stephens, a Welshman, shows much promise.

"The Crystal Palace authorities are setting out in the quest, too. Jimmy Hulls is at the helm of the venture."

Corri points out that England was the land of birth for the ring game.

"Surely," he comments, "England cannot let the game die for lack of international competition."

Year Marks Passing of Many Notables Of Roped Arena; Old Champs Dethroned

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The fast waning year of 1923 will carry with it into the past the names of a score of familiar figures in the pugilistic game. For time has dealt rudely with the veterans of the squared arena the last year. Champions have been dethroned and literally knocked into oblivion. Infirmities have taken their toll.

Johnny Kilbane, Johnny Buff, Jimmy Wilde, Eugene Criqui and Jack Britton lost their titles. Johnny's defeat marked his passing from the game—with enough money to more than do him the rest of his days. Buff's family cares and his age caused him to quit after losing the American flyweight title. Jimmy Wilde's age forced him to lay aside his gloves—too late. He never should have taken on Villa, the Filipino lad. Eugene Criqui and Britton, dethroned and both ring oddities, are still picking up the nickels.

Other celebrities who held no titles but still sought the elusive bird fame, passed out during the past eleven months.

Willard Wins Popularity

Probably the most picturesque figure of those who hit the long trail was Jess Willard. Once called the poorest heavy champ in the game and roundly disliked by the masses, Willard essayed a comeback the past year and his impressive victory over Floyd Johnson and game fight against Luis Firpo won him the acclaim and popularity he never had experienced as king. The fans have a warm spot in their hearts for the big giant as he steps out for good.

Battling Levinsky is done. He gave the game much and got little. Rock Kansas, one of our greatest near-champions, has heard the call of time.

Willie Jackson, southpaw wonder, who once hoped to win Benny Leonard's lightweight title, is now a physical wreck, unable to make a pretense of boxing. Pal Moran knocked Charlie White into oblivion when he k. o.'d the Chicago flash. For years White had ranked as one of the game's cleverest boxers, though never a champ.

More Passing Faces

Among the other interesting if not famous figures who have stepped into the shadows in the last eleven months are Bob Martin, Bill Brennan, Fred Fulton, Johnny Griffiths, Frankie Mason, Soldier Bartfield, Ritchie Mitchell and Andy Chaney.

They flirted with fame and fortune in various degrees in their day. Here's luck to them.

Bandits Get $30,000 In Jewel Store Raid

TULSA, OKLA., Dec. 26.—Two unmasked robbers entered the jewelry store of Harry Goldberg today and escaped with diamonds and cash estimated at $30,000. Will Goldberg, who had just opened the store, and a customer, were tied up by the robbers while the jewels were scoopd out of the safe. The holdup men leaped into a car that had been parked nearby and escaped.

Sport Snap Shots

By JACK KEENE

There is one veteran boxer in this grand old U. S. A. who must be given credit for some good horse sense. He is Artie Root. This lad, in his day, gave every indication of becoming featherweight or lightweight champion. But for poor management he would have been champ.

Fans will recall that he halted Willie Jackson's rise to fame. Jackson was going great guns in the east and was rated as leading aspirant for the lightweight title when Philadelphia promoters signed Root. Willie's followers figured the bout as good as in for Jackson. Root startled all the critics by pasting Jackson all over the ring for six rounds, handing him a busted nose among other mementos. It happened but a few weeks after Jackson had knocked Johnny Dundee out in one round.

That same season Root also gave Lew Tendler, wicked southpaw scrapper, a tough battle for six rounds. Critics were divided on the outcome of the fight.

Root even tackled Johnny Kilbane when that veteran champion was in need of an opponent and despite the fact that Root was poorly advised in making the match and in his training and went into the fight under weight and weak, gave the champ a good battle.

Last year Root was busy but felt himself slipping. He decided to lay off the game for a while. He lived carefully and kept in trim by steady work. A few weeks ago he started his gym work again. But he has given it up.

"I found I couldn't get my old speed back. I could hit all right and get down to weight, but the old hit and get away stuff wasn't there, so I've quit—for good. There's no use 'taking it' for a few bucks and winding up punch-crazy like a lot of the old fellows did. I've got enough dough to live on and prospects of a long life. Why throw your life away for a few more nickels and some cheers?" says Root.

Which is good philosophy and something that other vets ought to wrestle with for a while. Too many boys who are through listen to smooth talking managers and wily promoters and throw away their lives when they are just ready to live them.

The acquisition of Carl Mays gives the Cincinnati Reds the only pitcher in the big leagues who pitches standing on his head. Whether or not he can stand the National league batters that way is another matter.

Announcement of the National Collegiate Athletic association that it will, at its meeting late this month, start an investigation of the A. A. U's failure to lift the suspension imposed on Charley Paddock, sprint star, sounds the warning of another athletic war.

It is to be hoped that the matter will not be brought up at all unless it is felt that the facts can be made clear, the truth told and the matter settled for all time. It is a sad commentary on the leaders of the athletic organizations that they cannot see their way clear to take definite action on the matter which will either clear Paddock completely or ban him without question.

Alexa Stirling, Glenna Collett, Edith Cummings and the other brilliant women golfers may well look to their laurels in the coming years. For "Long Jim" Barnes, pro wizard of the links, says that a baby daughter the stork recently brought to his house will be a chip off the old block as soon as she is old enough to tell a driver from a midiron. And that's that.

The recent sale of the Newark International league club franchise to Michael McTighe and other Newark business men is of considerable interest generally, in that it ends the cry of "syndicate baseball" which has haunted the team and its activities for several seasons.

For two years International league fans had been kicking all around the circuit the rumor that Jack Dunn, president of the Baltimore club in the International league, controlled the Newark franchise. Dunn has won five pennants in a row for the Baltimore Orioles. While no one produced any real tangible evidence regarding the so-called syndicate arrangement, the fact remains that the Newark fans showed little interest in the team. The purchase of the club from William Ashton and Bernard Moen of Baltimore by the home-town crowd has been well received by the fans.

France introduces a novelty in the boxing game—a man who started at the top weight and is fighting his way down.

Usually our boxing luminaries start in as lightweights or welters and eventually graduate into the heavyweight class. But the French ring has produced a gent named Romerio who started as a real heavyweight and now fights as a welterweight, many pounds under the heavy limit.

He may never challenge Pancho Villa for the flyweight title, but Johnny Dundee may well look to his laurels.

Hans Wagner is about to divulge, under his own signature, the secret of his wonderful hitting, which placed him at the top of the National league for eight campaigns. Didn't know it was a secret. Wagner simply went to bat and the pitchers started to pray. Then Honus swung and started his bow legs toward first, as only Honus could start them.

Six-day bicycle racing must now be classed with the major sports—baseball, etc. For complaints were received by New York papers that scalpers were grabbing up all the available tickets for the final night of the recent bike race there.

The city of Paris has decided to present each champion produced in the Olympic games next year with a Sevres vase emblazoned with the arms of the municipality. Which causes us to burst forth with the following:

The athlete's heart will flutter
With a joy that never was
When judging board presents him
With the dainty little vase.
But, on the other hand, the durned thing may not cost over $5. In which case it will be necessary to alter the lines a bit, to read:
The athlete's heart will flutter
And a smile light up his face
When the judging board presents him
With the dainty little vase.

Speaking of the decadence of the middleweight and welterweight divisions in boxing, the lightweight class has but one man to keep it from being in the same class. Leonard alone is a credit to the division. He is one of the greatest lightweight champs the game has known. But the division holds no other great ring artists.

The handwriting on a legal paper has written "finis" to many a man's life.

DEMPSEY EQUALS EARLY FIGHTERS

He Has All Qualities; Could Hold His Own With Any Of Them, Claim

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—How would Jack Dempsey figure against Jeffries, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Peter Jackson, Jack Johnson and other heavyweight fighters of the old school?

It is an old question; as old as Methuselah's frock coat. It has been asked and answered in varying ways since the present champion slapped Willard silly at Toledo more than four years ago, and they will be weighing the matter, pro and con, on that distant date when Dempsey steps out for his inevitable beating. It is one of those incontrovertible things like ink on the blackboard.

Merely on the data accruing from Dempsey's record he must be rated an even money bet with any and all champions of the past. Against Willard and Firpo he proved that he could hit; against Gibbons and Carpenter he proved he had speed; against Firpo he proved that he could "take it" and come back.

Lacks Nothing

Perhaps he lacks some asset of the true champion and it may be that paving blocks make excellent watch charms.

Fitzsimmons, the old-timers declaim, would cut Dempsey down in a few accurate punches. The truth of the matter probably is that Dempsey is tougher than Robert ever was and would still be on his feet after the latter went down for good. Fitz was easy to hit and that kind is confetti for Dempsey.

Corbett was just the opposite type, so clever as to be almost unpleasant about it. Yet it is doubtful whether Corbett could have kept away from Jack, and, once hit, James probably would be through. He was not the toughest citizen in the world. In fact, it is hardly likely that he could laugh off a punch after the manner of Tom Gibbons, whose speed allowed him to stay fifteen rounds with Dempsey at Shelby.

John L. and Jeffries would have furnished the champion terrific battles, with the survivor always in doubt. They were sluggers and punch-absorbers, lacking, however, Dempsey's speed. This latter might have decided the issue in favor of Jack, and then again it might have decided nothing. When sluggers meet, anything can happen, and sometimes it happens pronto.

We know nothing of Peter Jackson except by hearsay, but Johnson was purely a defensive fighter. He scored many knockouts, of course, but his forte was his marvelous defense. Dempsey would have had the time of his young life breaking through Johnson's guard and probably would have had his head jabbed off meanwhile.

If the pair met on even terms today the writer would favor Johnson to win on points. He couldn't hit hard enough to stop Dempsey unless the fight went to a finish.

However, it all narrows down to this: Dempsey would just about hold his own in any company, let the old-timers say what they will.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Pittsburgh—Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, won decision over Tommy Loughman, of Philadelphia, ten rounds.

At Lancaster, Pa.—Eddie Ochs, of Lancaster, won decision over Frankie Daly, New York, stopped in fourth round.

At Philadelphia—Joe Taylor, of Omaha, defeated Battling Siki, of France, ten rounds. Lew Lewis, of Waterbury, Conn., defeated Pedro Camp, of Manila, ten rounds. Ad Stone, of Philadelphia, knocked out Dan O'Dowd, of Boston, eight rounds. Harry Brown, of Philadelphia, and Bud Christiano, of Buffalo, drew, ten rounds. Eddie Wagner, of Philadelphia, defeated Andy Chaney, of Baltimore, ten rounds.

Huskies In Training For Game With Navy

SEATTLE, Dec. 26.—The University of Washington Huskies, who will meet Uncle Sam's Middies at Pasadena on New Year's day, were due to report for practice this afternoon after spending Christmas with the folks at home.

Elmer Tesreau, fullback, who has been out of the lineup for several days, expects to be able to resume practice today. He is suffering with a boil on his knee and for a time it was believed he would not be able to take part in the big game.

The squad returned today much refreshed after their day's rest and were expected to make a better showing than they did in Monday's workout when every one of them seemed to be thinking mainly of how soon they could get through and get started for home.

AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The Christmas holiday was continued at the White House today. There were no formal engagements on President Coolidge's program and he planned to spend most of the day in the executive mansion with his family.

APATHY FOR TEA IS BIG MYSTERY

Miss Lloyd George Likes U. S. But Can't Understand 'Strange' Customs

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Miss Megan Lloyd George, daughter of the former prime minister of England, learned a lot about America during her recent tour, and was able to understand most of the things she heard and saw. But she returned to England without ever having found out the correct thing to reply when a brisk American thrusts out a friendly hand and ejaculates: "I'm pleased to meet you."

"I suppose," said Miss George, "that there must be a recognized reply, but America keeps it to herself. Whenever that was said to me I invariably replied, 'How do you do!' which must have been regarded as a baffling sign of insularity. If I ever go back I intend to make America divulge the answer to that riddle.

"And I do want to go back," Miss Megan continued. "I loved it all. It was like a kaleidoscope. First the skyline of New York rising out of the clouds like a dream city in Arabian Nights; the crowds of horn-spectacled reporters; ice water, grapefruit; Washington, the most beautiful city in the world; golden maple trees and scarlet dogwood—I am eager to see it all again."

Miss Megan admitted that a lot of her preconceptions of Americans had been knocked for a loop by her actual experiences in the United States.

Don't Chew Gum

"The conventional idea of the American—loud-voiced and always chewing gum—is ludricous," she said. "Americans have not loud voices, and I never saw anybody chewing gum. On the contrary, Americans are the politest people on the earth.

"Another discovery I made is that the women dress quite exquisitely. I don't know how it is, but though they seem to buy most of their dresses in Paris they wear them with quite a New World air. To drive down Fifth avenue is a sheer delight—one sees so many beautiful people in such beautiful clothes."

America, however, would be more pleasant if it would only take up tea, Miss Megan believes. Not that there is any special merit in tea, but because the tea habit eases the strain of modern strenuosity.

Live Too Fast

"It was brought home to me that Americans do not know how to rest," she said. "Life flies by too fast for them to step aside even for an instant. And it is because they do not know how to rest that they never will understand the meaning of tea.

"They used to ask me with real curiosity if there was any truth in the strange legend that had drifted over to them of British business men who left their desks toward the hour of 5 in order to sip tea and nibble toast. And when I told them yes, it was true, there was a light in their eyes as though they had gazed on a great mystery.

"They do not understand that tea, to us, means more than a mere drink. They do not realize the magic that lies in the tinkle of the spoons and the drawing of the curtains.

"But that is, after all, a small thing for a country which has made such tremendous strides in such a short time. When I think of the thousands of years which we have taken to evolve our civilization and then visit America to find that a civilization has sprung up almost in a night, I cannot but marvel at what the future will bring forth."

U. S. HAS MIGHTIEST FLEET OF ELECTRIC WARSHIPS

Completion Of West Virginia Gives This Nation Great Formation

U. S. S. West Virginia and her skipper, Capt. Thomas J. Senn

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The U. S. S. West Virginia is in commission at last. The United States goes completely into the naval holiday proclaimed by the Washington conference on limitation of armament with six of the mightiest war vessels in the world, and the only electrically driven battle fleet.

As the North Dakota moves slowly into the navy yard to be stripped of her guns and armor and torn into a pile of junk, the West Virginia slips into her place, the most terrible fighting craft ever executed by naval builders. Her complement consists of 1,400 officers and men and she carries eight sixteen-inch forty-five calibre guns, twelve five-inch fifty-one calibre guns, two twenty-one-inch submerged torpedo tubes and eight three-inch anti-craft guns. She is 624 feet long, ninety-seven feet, 3½ inches across at the water line, has a draft of 31½ feet and makes a speed of twenty-one knots.

The sixteen-inch guns of the West Virginia can hurl a 2,100 pound projectile a distance of twenty miles. The armored turrets in which these guns are mounted, can revolve in any direction. The West Virginia is completely armored in steel eighteen inches thick. The steel for her hull and decks weighs 16,000 tons. Her armor alone weighs 8,000 tons.

She is driven by four 8,000-horse-power motors, among the largest ever built. Each is twelve feet in diameter and weighs 62 tons. The power plant, supplying electric energy to the motors, consists of two team turbine-generators, each developing 12,600 kilowatts, which would supply electric light, heat and power to 100 towns of 5,000 population each.

A battery of oil-fired boilers that produce steam causes the turbines to revolve. They move these generators at more than 2000 revolutions a minute. This produces the electric current, which then travels through a transmission cable to those four big motors, causing them likewise to revolve and, in revolving, to turn the four propeller shafts which drive the vessel.

Each of these turbine generators will produce 12,600 kilowatts of electricity, the motors will deliver 8,000 horsepower each.

In 1898, just twenty-five years ago, Commodore Dewey won the battle of Manila with this fleet, the pride of the United States:

Ships	Tons	Guns
Olympia	5,870	4 8-inch
Baltimore	4,413	6 6-inch
		1 6-inch
Raleigh	3,183	10 5-inch
Boston	3,000	2 8-inch
Concord	1,710	6 6-inch
Petrel	892	4 6-inch

Here is the main battle fleet of the United States today:

Ships	Tons	Guns.
West Virginia	32,600	8 16-inch
Colorado	32,600	8 16-inch
Maryland	32600	8 16-inch
California	32,300	12 14-inch
Tennessee	32,300	12 14-inch
New Mexico	32,000	12 14-inch

Captain Thomas J. Senn, who has been given command of the West Virginia, was graduated from Annapolis in 1891. He is a native of South Carolina.

PLAN WOULD RID OCEAN OF SCUM

Separator Cleans Bilge of Oil Waste that Kills Birds and Fishes

LONDON, Dec. 26. — Shipowners and bathers are watching with interest an invention, now on trial, designed to rid the ocean from oil pollution.

The invention, named the Rocket Oil Separator, is claimed by its inventor, H. M. Alexander, to be able to extract all the waste oil fuel which becomes mixed with water when an empty fuel tank has to be filled at sea with water for ballast, and which afterward has to be pumped back into the sea again when the tanks are refilled with oil, covering the water with thick black scum.

This black mixture of waste oil and water is the curse of seabathers and the cause of the death of countless thousands of sea-going birds smothered in its sticky grip.

The separation apparatus consists of a central cone, into which the mixed oil and water from the bilge is pumped. This is surrounded by another large compartment, called the secondary cone, where the separation takes place. Having been separated, the oil passes through a pipe to be returned to the storage tanks for use, with a large saving to shipowners, while the water is pumped back into the sea so entirely free from oil that it is almost crystal clear.

High Speed

"The machine is capable of separating the two liquids at the rate of 100 tons an hour," said Major-General Seely, president of the syndicate marketing the invention. "Four of the separators fitted in a giant liner like the Leviathan, for instance, would save the initial cost in six months.

"Many thousands of tons of oil fuel is pumped overboard to contaminate the coastal waters of the world. Even though discharged on the high seas it is carried inshore by the tide.

"A million dollars a year could be saved in England alone by the wide use of the apparatus," Seely declared.

The invention can be fitted to all sizes of oil-fuel burners at a surprisingly low cost.

NORTH COLORADO HAS GAS STRIKE

Mushroom Settlement Rises Up in Section Around Great Gusher

DENVER, Dec. 26.—The old-time "boom days" of the gold and silver rushes of Colorado are being eclipsed in Northern Colorado following discovery of a huge gas well near Wellington, north of Fort Collins.

Swept by a wave of intense excitement over the possibilities of an oil boom, following bringing in of the gas gusher, which flowed 1,000,000,000 cubic feet per day before it was finally capped, a mushroom settlement has sprung up in the rolling farm land country of Weld county.

More than 50,000 persons have visited the scene of the gusher, and numerous small eating houses, "tent cities" and refreshment stands have been erected over a wide area in the vicinity of the Wellington dome.

So great was the pressure of gas, struck at a depth of more than 4,000 feet, that the roar of the flow could be heard for miles around.

Has Great Force

Some of the casing and parts of the derrick were shot away by the bullet-like force of the flowing gas before workmen were able to cap the well. The cap is in 14 parts and weighs 7,000 pounds.

Though the gas well is "dry" thus far, showing little if any traces of oil, the belief is widespread that the golden fluid will be located in the vicinity, and a wild rush was made to lease up acreage for miles around.

The property upon which the gasser was brought in is state school land, under lease to a California oil company for ten cents an acre, with the usual provision of one-eighth royalty accruing to the state from all income derived from the land.

Experts declare that if the gas flow from the one well already brought in continues even to within 50 per cent of its present flow of 100,000,000 cubic feet, sufficient gas will be available to furnish several Northern Colorado cities with cheap fuel, and proposed commercialization of the gas for fuel purposes is expected to yield a large amount of money to Colorado for school purposes.

Scores of oil company officials, free lance drillers and oil speculators have viewed the gasser and express the belief that oil in great quantities exists in close proximity to the Wellington dome. Many companies are planning to sink wells, and scores of rigs and drills are arriving on the scene from Wyoming and distant oil fields.

RUSSIAN SOVIET HAS TRADE PACT

Autonomous Republics Unite Primarily Because of Economic Stress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The ruinous economic and financial state of the whole of Russia was one of the chief causes of the recent reorganization of the Russian Soviet into ten autonomous republics under the general direction and leadership of the Moscow government, according to advices reaching here through official channels.

The Union of Soviet Republics is now said to embrace an area of more than 7,000,000 square miles—nearly twice the area of the United States—with a population of 132,000,000. The autonomous republics are: Bashkir, Tartar, Kirghiz, Mountain, Daghestan, Turkestan, Crimea, Yakutsk, Karelia and Buriat-Mongol. In addition to these, there are a number of "autonomous areas," each ruled by a Regional Executive committee, which send delegates to the All-Russian Soviet Congresses and the Central Executive committee of the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic.

Closer Union

It was at the time of the Genoa conference, according to Russian officials here, that the question of a closer union between the Soviet Republics first came forward as a practical and immediate necessity. The republics sent a single delegation to Genoa to represent all of Russia, and it was not long until there was agitation in several of the republics for a series of treaties to unite the various Russian governments.

The question was finally presented to the Tenth All-Russian Congress of Soviets, and the causes for a closer union were placed under three heads as follows:

First—The ruinous economic and financial state of the whole of Russia.

Second—Economic interdependence, including the need for a common military and diplomatic front and a common policy in international trade.

Third—The existence of essential common lines of communication.

A resolution was adopted by the congress providing for the formation of the Soviet Union, based on voluntary entry and equality of rights for each republic, and under which each of the republics would have the right to withdraw from the Union whenever it wished. The signing of this treaty by the republics affected brought the new Union into existence.

Returns Pencil Lent To Him 5 Years Ago

BRIDGEPORT, Ohio, Jan. 1.—More than five years ago, when a draft contingent was leaving Bellaire, Ohio, near here, a resident of this city, C. A. Holmes, heard one of the boys in the train ask for a pencil. Holmes gave him a pencil.

One day recently as he was passing a young man on a street in Bellaire, Holmes was stopped.

"Here's your pencil," said the young man, handing Holmes the stub of a pencil.

The young fellow explained that he carried the same pencil all through France. At times it was the only one in the entire company, he said—and it served as a good-luck token. The ex-service man said he decided to keep what was left of the pencil while overseas and bring it back to the United States in hope of meeting the donor and returning the pencil to him.

Texas Plans Roundup Of Its Fake Doctors

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 26.—Falling in line with the "swat-the-quack" movement introduced in several other states, including New York, Missouri and Connecticut, Texas will inaugurate its official drive on fake doctors January 1.

Sufficient time has been allowed for many of the quacks to flee from the state, with the promise of rigid prosecution for those who remain.

The state medical association will sponsor the anti-quack campaign.

GOD'S LOVE GAVE WORLD REDEEMER

Birth of Savior Is Part of Plan for Salvation of Erring Sinners

"Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" was the theme of Rev. Henry O. Kringle's address to the members of the Zion Lutheran congregation at the Christmas celebration on Christmas eve.

"In the first epistle of John, 4:14, we read, 'God is love,'" he said. "If that does not suffice, a sufficient answer to our question, what is God, is given this night by the incarnation of the Son of God. For by this incarnation God has rendered himself visible, and what do we see? He is not only love, but he is the greatest love that human mind can conceive of.

"But let us go to Bethlehem and see this love in its infancy. When Jesus was born at Bethlehem an angel from heaven told the shepherds of his birth. Then suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of heavenly hosts. They appeared upon earth, a vast and jubilant throng, singing and making sweet music in the silence of the night. It was something unusual that caused such stir among the inhabitants of heaven. What was it?

Angels Greet Child

"The people of Bethlehem were sleeping; they paid no attention to a virgin, a poor stranger, who in a stable at the inn was delivered of a child. But the angels knew what had happened. The Son of God was made man, their Creator a little child. They were overcome with joy at the sight. This joy found expression in the song they sang: 'Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men.' The angels vanished again into heaven and all was still.

"But the sweet strains of the angels' songs still re-echo in the hearts of men. Years roll by, and centuries come and go, but the song of the angels is ever new, a song that brings peace to cherishing souls, a song that fills the world with hope and good cheer. Also our hearts are gladdened by the notes of this song, whenever Christmas comes again. But what is the import of this song? Let us ponder over its meaning for a little while. We shall then catch a glimpse of the great mystery of God's redeeming love and shall be filled with the true and lasting Christmas joy.

"'Glory to God in the Highest; Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men.' These were the words of the angels' Christmas song. The angels gave glory to God for the things he had done that Christmas night, when his own son was born on earth as the Savior of the world. They gave glory to God for his wisdom and power, for his mercy and love, for his faithfulness and truth, which were made manifest in the birth of Christ.

Plan of Redemption

"Sin had caused God to become angry with man. It kindled his wrath, it moved him to condemn and punish man. For God is a just God. He cannot overlook man's sin. His justice commands that he condemn the sinner. What then should be done? How can God remain just and allow man at the same time to go unpunished? How can God and man be reconciled? Could any man tell? Could any angel tell? They knew of the fall of man, but they could not give any counsel for the redemption of man. But God in his wisdom devised a plan whereby he could redeem man without denying his justice. He decreed to sacrifice his only Son to make the world's substitute, to let him atone for the world's sin and thus to become the world's Savior. In accordance with the decree, the Savior was born on Christmas night. Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and the knowledge of God.

"Ah, friends, hear the blessed news. God was made man to save him from sin and death, and 'he that believeth in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life.' Therefore, 'Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men.'"

STRIFE SEEN IN OHIO PRIMARIES

Whet Political Knives in Camps of Republicans and Democrats

CLEVELAND, Dec. 26.—Although primaries for the selection of delegates to the national political conventions of the major political parties are five months away, and the primaries at which state candidates will be nominated will be held more than three months later, political knives in both Democratic and Republican camps in Ohio are already being whetted for use in the bitter battle expected to precede selection of national delegates and gubernatorial candidates.

A schism in the Democratic ranks that may develop statewide proportion, occurred when Judge David L. Rockwell, formerly close to ex-Governor James M. Cox, candidate for president in 1920, announced he would actively support William Gibbs McAdoo for the Democratic nomination. Governor "Vic" Donahey, serving his first term as Democratic chief executive, will encounter almost certain opposition for renomination, political observers say, as a result of remarks attributed to him at the "dry" conference in Washington, called by President Coolidge.

Eastern newspapers credited him with saying at that time he would vote for the re-election of President Coolidge rather than support Governor Al Smith, of New York, or any other outstanding "wet."

Back in the shadows cast by the Ohio statehouse Governor Donahey denied he had said anything of the sort and that if he did it was not intended for publication; but a merry poltical battle is impending as a result, and further fuel is added to the flame by the already existing enmity of Edmund H. Moore, prominent Cleveland and Youngstown lawyer, who fought Donahey's election in the closing days of the 1922 campaign.

Cox Still Strong

While former Governor Cox is expected to have the Democratic delegation to the national convention if he wants it, the defection of Rockwell is admitted to be serious. However, friends of Cox say he can carry the state's delegates against any candidate.

A fight for the Republican delegation to the national convention, already considered probable, was rendered absolutely certain when State Senator George H. Bender, of Cleveland, fresh from a conference with Senator Hiram Johnson in Washington, announced here that Johnson candidates would be entered in every congressional district. Bender, listed as a "Progressive," at the same time declared the time "had arrived when the old guard would meet its Waterloo in Ohio."

That President Coolidge will receive the support of the organization in the state generally is counted upon as a foregone conclusion, although there have been rumors in circulation that Rud K. Hynicka and Maurice Maeschke, Republican leaders in Cincinnati and Cleveland, respectively, might desert the president for the Californian.

These reports, however, are not generally credited, as thereby the two leading "bosses" of the state would be compelled to make common cause with the Progressives, who are seeking their downfall.

May Back Johnson

Charles L. Knight, of Akron, publisher of two leading newspapers in the state, who served two years in congress and was runner-up in the Republican gubernatorial race in 1922, probably will land in the Johnson camp. Recently, in a published interview, he declared the need of his party was "character" rather than a candidate and that something must be done to accomplish this end or the party was heading straight for perdiction.

Knight's vocabulary, always picturesque, and the power wielded by his newspapers were counted upon as a strong asset for the cause, should he decide to espouse it.

There are at least a dozen prospective candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. The first to announce his candidacy was State Senator J. F.

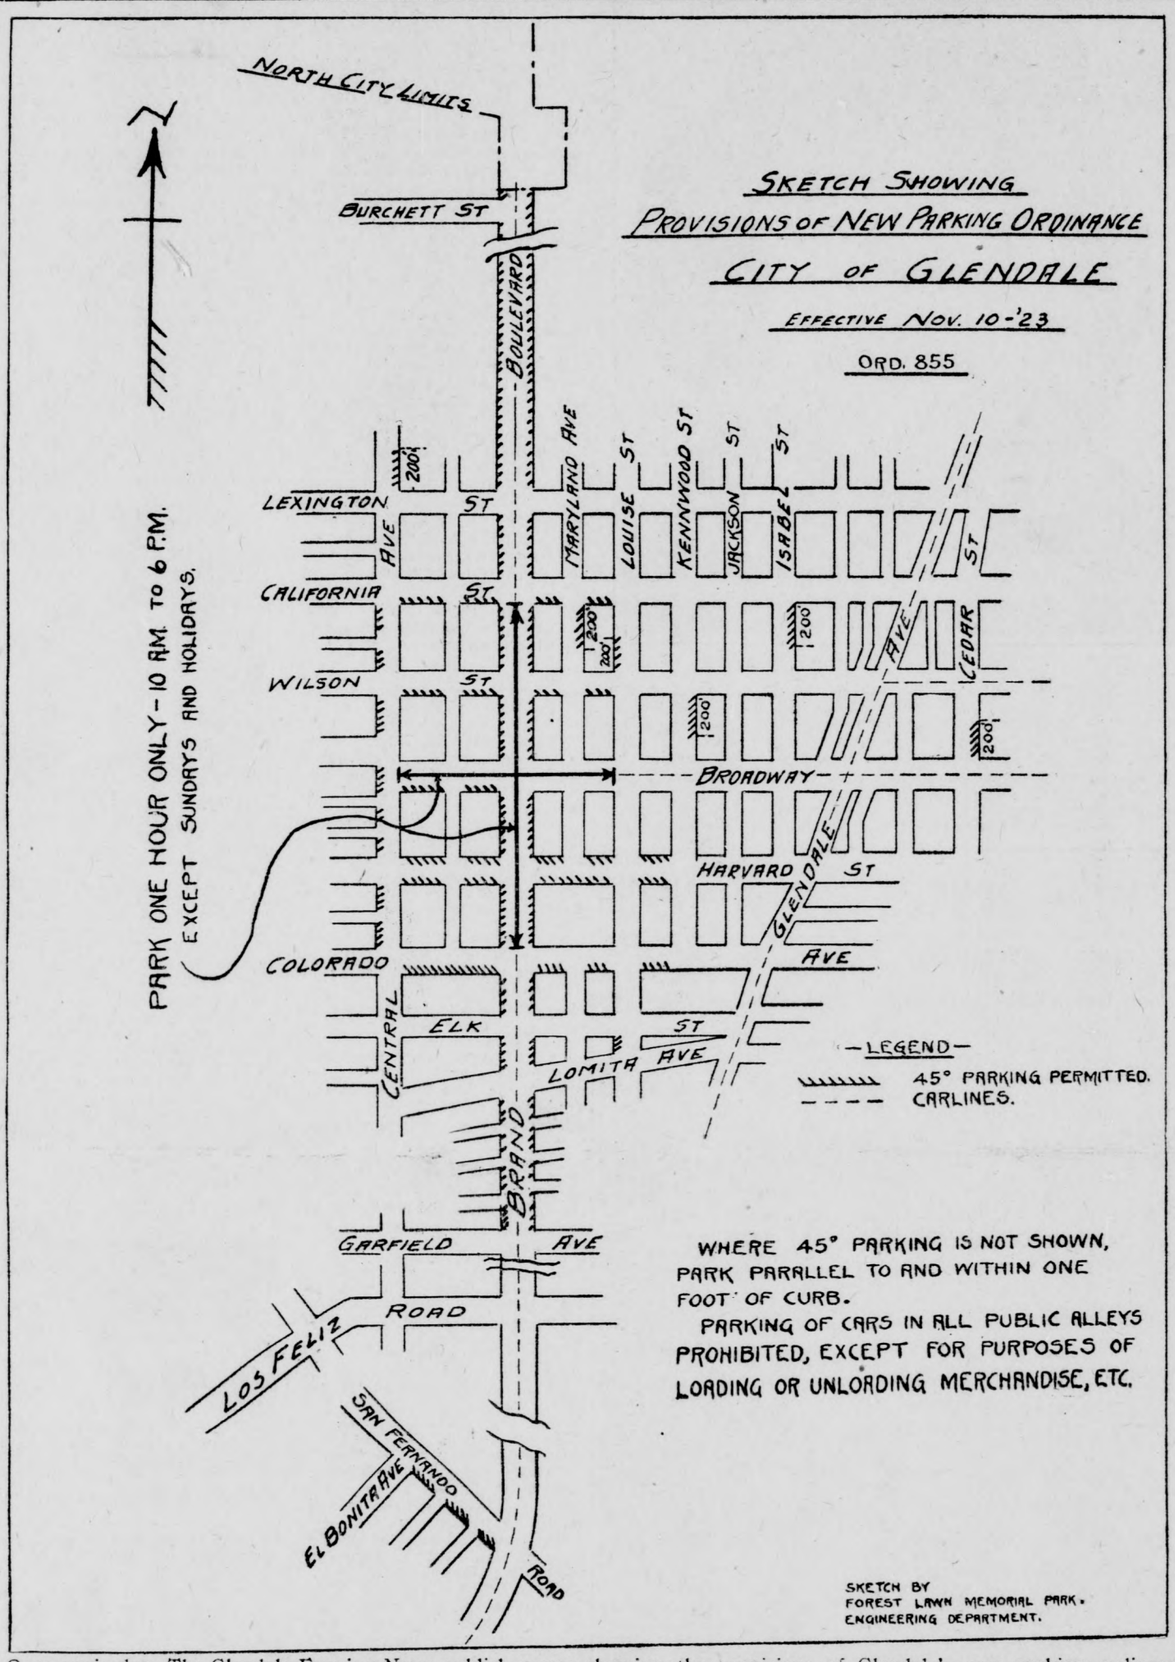
Map Shows Provisions of Glendale's Auto Parking Ordinance; Keep it For Reference



Once again does The Glendale Evening News publish a map showing the provisions of Glendale's new parking ordinance. The police authorities say that the law is being violated daily by hundreds of people—all because they do not know the provisions of the law. Cut out this map and refer to it if in doubt where to park and where not to park.

With the addition of two men to the police force, Chief of Police J. D. Fraser intends to keep a more careful check than has hitherto been possible of the drivers who are violating the new parking regulation. Offenders have not been prosecuted very rigorously since the ordinance went into effect, due to the employment of members of the traffic squad on other matters, and the wish of the chief that signs be posted in the restricted areas giving notice of the parking laws. These signs are being placed on the streets as fast as possible, and from now on the reins will be tightened.

An ordinance adopted by the City Council states that it shall be unlawful to park a car on either side of Brand boulevard, between Colorado and California, or on Broadway between Central and Louise for longer than one hour between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. It also provides that cars shall be parked within twelve inches of the curb in the districts where parallel parking is permitted.

A study of the accompanying map will give any motorist a complete knowledge of the parking regulations. If you can't remember the different provisions, cut it out and carry it with you, then you will surely be on the safe side.

Consult Map

Parking at an angle is permitted on all of Brand boulevard from Burchett street to the north side of Garfield avenue. From this intersection south you must park parallel to the curb.

You are not required to park parallel on the south side of California and Wilson streets between Central avenue and Louise street, and on the south side of Broadway between Central and Brand. Angle parking is permitted on both sides of Harvard and the south side of Colorado between Central and Kenwood, as well as on the west side of Central between Colorado and California.

This takes in most of the business section of the city, and for parking regulations in the residence districts, consult the map.

Watch out for the fire plugs, reserved police places and no parking signs and you won't find any calling cards of Judge F. H. Lowe on your machine.

GAS AND LIQUOR LEAD TO ARREST

Celebrants Held by Police To Explain Christmas Party to Judge

Two men who endeavored to mix gasoline and whisky on Christmas day awoke this morning in headquarters jail and will be given an opportunity to tell Judge Lowe about the Christmas "party."

H. A. Eddins, 2022 Clinton street, Alameda, while driving a Buick coupe south on the wrong side of Brand boulevard yesterday afternoon at 4:30, crashed into a Cleveland touring car, caromed off into a bicycle, hit the curb, and finally wound up in a vacant lot at the corner of Brand and Burchett street. Glancing around, and seeing the police in hot pursuit, he abandoned his car and started on the run, or as near a run as he could manage, toward Maryland avenue. He was overtaken by Detective Sergeant Blake, and placed under arrest. Later he was taken to headquarters by that officer and Lieutenant Royle.

Dr. G. Kaemmerling was called, but, upon investigation, stated that the prisoner was too drunk to question. He was held under $300 cash or $600 property bond.

Cars in Collision

One hour later, Chris Gaardamoe, 510 North Maryland street, was arrested at the corner of Salem and Columbus by Captain Loving and Lieutenant Royle, charged with driving while intoxicated. He drove his Ford into a collision with another car driven by Louis J. Johnson, 212 Avenue Thirty-four Venice, but no one was seriously hurt.

Dr. Kaemmerling was again called and pronounced the prisoner under the influence of liquor.

L. F. Latta and Jesse Gowey, local men, were arrested Christmas eve by Motor Officers Devine and Collins at the corner of Park and South San Fernando road, also charged with being drunk. They were brought to headquarters by Sergeants Kenyon and Lauritzen. They were later released on $25 bail to appear December 28.

Canadian Club Hosts To Kiddies at Party

The Glendale Canadian club was host Christmas eve to seventy-five kiddies, entertaining them and Santa Claus at a big Christmas tree in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard. There were 100 adults present to share in the festivities. Guests were present from Long Beach, Hollywood and Pasadena.

Gathered around a beautifully decorated tree the company enjoyed music and games and late in the evening each kiddy was presented with a gift from the club.

Mrs. William Western was chairman of the committee arranging the affair and among her assistants were Mesdames Robertson, Farber and McLean.

The next meeting of the club will be Thursday night, January 3 in the K. P. hall.

INCOME PAYMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Fourth Tax Installment For 1923 Is $6,749,462, Says Revenue Collector

Income taxpayers in the southern California district paid into Uncle Sam's treasury the immense sum of $6,749,462.52 as their fourth and final payment on 1923 income taxes.

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell announced yesterday the fourth payment was $1,606,117.53 greater than the amount received for the final payment of 1922, an increase of 31.2 per cent.

That the taxpayers of the district were more than loyal to the government in the payment of their 1923 income taxes is shown by the fact that the 1923 increase in the number of taxpayers filing returns was 33 per cent, while the increase in collections was 31.2 per cent. Giving credit for legal deductions and rebates allowed for errors made on returns, this means that southern California virtually paid its entire 1923 income tax bill.

Splendid Record

"This is indeed a record to be proud of," said Collector Goodcell, "and it points to an unusual state of prosperity in southern California. What other business whose charge accounts amount to $40,000,000 annually collects virtually the entire sum before the end of the year? Then, too, income taxpayers are not required to furnish credit references before their accounts are charged to them, as is the custom in business concerns.

Some idea of the remarkable growth in wealth and population in southern California is indicated by the fact that the receipts from one quarterly payment of income taxes in 1923 were three and a half times greater than the total revenue collections of the district, of all classes of taxes, in 1914.

While 241,000 taxpayers filed returns in 1923, Collector Goodcell estimates that almost 300,000 will file in 1924.

Relief Corps Will Name New President

Mrs. Flora Pixley, president of the Women's Relief Corps, is urging a full attendance of members at the open meeting Friday, for Mrs. Jennie Tincher, president-elect, finds it impossible for her to serve and some one must be elected to take her place.

This will be the final open meeting under the present officers. It will be a joint gathering of the G. A. R. post and the W. R. C. The morning meeting will begin at 10 o'clock and there will be luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Tincher's friends will regret to learn that because of a long period of jury duty she will not be able to accept the presidency.

Montana Editor Sees Prosperity Prospects

A. B. Casteel, editor of the Montana Banker of Great Falls, Mont., who was a member of The Glendale Evening News staff for a period, is leaving by motor car today for his home city, where business conditions are again approaching normal.

Prospects of an upturn in copper, as well as increased activity in the agricultural areas of Montana, following a dull spell, give Mr. Casteel prospects of a large year with his financial publication.

Christmas Gift Is Stolen, Donor Claims

Mrs. J. B. Wilkins of 1009 South Mariposa street reports an unhappy experience of Christmas eve, when a gift she took to her neighbor, Mrs. Emma Haller, at 1004 South Mariposa street, was stolen from the mail box.

It was shortly before 6 o'clock that Mrs. Wilkins placed the gift in the box and she states that by 6 o'clock it had disappeared.

Buckeye Society to Meet at Clubhouse

The Buckeye society of Glendale, an organization of former Ohioans, is to meet Wednesday night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at the corner of North Central avenue and Lexington drive.

A program will begin at 8 o'clock and will be followed by a lunch.

Women Bruised When Automobiles Collide

Two cars, one driven by J. W. Ashton, 327 El Bonita street, the other by Herbert C. Andrews, 3426 Figueroa street, Los Angeles, collided at the corner of Columbus and Colorado street Christmas afternoon.

Mrs. Ashton and another lady in the car, Mrs. E. M. Goodrich, were slightly bruised but were able to proceed to their homes.

If all the material carried by the Mississippi river to the gulf in one year were placed on one square mile, it would be nearly 270 feet high.

Knee Fractured In Automobile Accident

Miss Louise Robenette, 522 East Avenue 39, Los Angeles, was brought to the Glendale Sanitariu mand Hospital by Lieutenant Nunn and Officer Hendrick, at midnight last night, suffering from a fractured knee as the result of an automobile accident on Michigan boulevard in Tujunga.

After receiving medical attention she was taken home.

'Sling Hammocks' In Street; Are Arrested

Officer J. J. Claxton phoned into headquarters at 3 o'clock Christmas morning stating that two sailors had started their Christmas celebration and becoming weary, had "slung hammocks" on Brand boulevard and were sleeping in the street.

They were taken to headquarters, and later released to return to their ships.

Estimated consumption of sugar for this year is over 350,000 tons more than in 1922, or 725,000 tons larger than production.

Boil Old Films Into Chewing Gum Mixture

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26.—Most of the chewing gum now being consumed in the Republic of Mexico is imported from the United States, but there are a number of small factories here that buy their chicle from the state of Campeche, making it into chewing gum here and then selling it to the street venders and small shops.

The other day the fire department was called into action to put out a blaze which had followed an explosion in a chewing gum factory owned by a little old Japanese.

The police later reported to the newspapers that the owner of the factory had been mixing the chicle with worn-out moving picture films, the same having been cut up and boiled down to a pulp, and that in some manner or another a lighted cigaret had been carelessly thrown into a pile of dry film waiting for the pot, thus causing the explosion. According to the police no trace has been found of the Japanese proprietor since the blast.

Wheat crop in 1922 was only one-third in value that of the dairy products.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26.—The usual number of persons in some difficulty or another with the state and federal prohibition officers are expected to be involved this year in California because of Christmas "cheer" of the pre-Volstead kind.

To obviate this as much as possible Prohibition Agent-in-Charge Charles Galling and other officers here have attempted to epitomize the federal and state provisions.

The principal feature of distinction between the practice in federal and state courts is the greater ardor with which the United States tribunals safeguard the individual against illegal processes. This is exemplified in the federal ruling that evidence illegally obtained is not admissible.

On the other hand the state courts uphold the idea that the end justifies the means. So far as the Volstead act is concerned, search warrants for private dwellings are issuable only for illegal sales.

Liquor acquired prior to the time the Volstead act became effective may be consumed with freedom within the home and served to bona fide guests, but the burden of proof that the liquor served was acquired before the advent of the dry law rests with the possessor.

Of course it is illegal for an officer to enter a home without a search warrant, but in the case of an automobile it may be stopped if there is probable reason to suspect it is carrying contraband. The probable cause angle is a matter to be decided in each case.

On the other hand, if a pedestrian is stopped and searched without a warrant this constitutes false arrest, for which there are civil remedies. But the remedies mean little unless malice on the part of the officer can be proven.

Persons present in cafes at the time raids are staged are not considered to be under arrest either technical or otherwise—unless specifically instructed so. This means of course, that there is no "escape" involved should one depart immediately.

Recipients of gifts of intoxicating liquors are subject to arrest for possession and transportation and the generous donor might be prosecuted on a charge of conspiring to transport.

Automobiles, of course, in which liquor is found are subject to confiscation. However, if there is a guest in the machine, with liquor unbeknowing to the machine owner, it is hardly likely that the machine can be seized, because of the unusual qualifications that the violation must be knowing and willful."

The Volstead law makes no recognition of drunkenness. However, should the habitual use of "legal liquor" result in a series of disorders, the place where they occur might be declared a nuisance by other state or federal officers, and the occupants prosecuted.

"Legal liquor" may be moved from one residence to another under a federal permit.

ARRIVES TO PLAY MADONNA

Beauty Finds Another Is Elected To Role

Lady Diana Duff Cooper, nee Manners

There is a British-Italian crisis. When Lady Diana Cooper, daughter of Duke of Rutland, and for years reigning beauty of English nobility, arrived in New York to begin rehearsals in the part of the Madonna in the Max Reinhardt spectacle, "The Miracle," for which she has been chosen by Morris Gest, the producer, she learned that Reinhardt himself had selected another, Princess Matchibelli, Italian beauty, for the role. Gest and Reinhardt are trying to reach an agreement in the matter.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BROKEN DRUM

It was the day after Christmas, when Uncle Wiggily, coming into the room where Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was talking with Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, said:

"Have we any stickum plaster in the bungalow, Nurse Jane?"

"Stickum plaster? No, I think we haven't any," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "But what do you want of stickum plaster, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I cut my paw on the bread knife," answered the bunny.

"What were you doing with the bread knife?" asked Nurse Jane, as she looked at the bunny gentleman's paw, around which he had wrapped his handkerchief.

"I was cutting a slice of bread," he replied.

"But why should you cut bread?" Nurse Jane wanted to know. "You had your breakfast only a little while ago."

"I was cutting a slice of bread for a poor, hungry, tramp dog that scratched at the back door," answered the bunny. "He had had nothing to eat since before Christmas. I didn't want to call you while you were talking to Mrs. Twistytail, so I cut the bread and I also cut myself."

"That's too bad!" grunted the pig lady. "I have some stickum plaster over in my house. I'll go get it for you."

"Oh, no, thank you! Don't trouble!" begged Uncle Wiggily. "It isn't much of a cut."

"But you must put a bit of plaster on it," exclaimed Nurse Jane. "I'm sorry we haven't any. I'll go to the drug store and get you some."

"Thank you, no, I'll go to the drug store myself," said the bunny gentleman. "It will do me good to hop out in the air, and I may have an adventure."

Saying good-bye to the animal ladies, Uncle Wiggily wrapped his handkerchief more tightly around his cut paw, and started to hop over the fields and through the woods to the drug store of Dr. Possum.

Dr. Possum put a piece of stickum plaster over the bunny gentleman's cut paw, and then said:

"You had better take a large piece of this stickum plaster home with you, Uncle Wiggily. There is no telling when you may cut yourself again. Or Nurse Jane may scratch herself on a potato pancake or something like that. You ought to have some extra stickum plaster in your bungalow."

"Thank you, I'll take some," answered Uncle Wiggily. So with his cut paw covered with a bit of the sticky stuff, the bunny put the remainder of the plaster in his pocket and hopped along.

The bunny gentleman had not gone very far before he came to a little house, built in the woods. And, from the house came the sound of a sad voice crying and saying:

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

"That sounds like trouble," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "That is the house where Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow live. I hope nothing has happened to either of my little doggie boy friends. I must go in and see."

Uncle Wiggily hopped into the doggie house. He saw Jackie with a Christmas drum hanging in front of him. But the doggie boy wasn't run-a-dub-dubbing.

"Hello, Jackie!" cried Uncle Wiggily, in his jolly voice. "Play a tune on your Christmas drum!"

"I can't," sadly barked Jackie. "Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, dear! I can't play the drum!"

"Why not?" asked the bunny.

"'Cause it's broken!" whined Jackie. "Look, the skin head has a big crack in it!" Surely enough the drum head was broken and instead of going "Boom! Boom!" when Jackie tapped it with the sticks the drum sounded only "Pink! Punk!" like water dripping in the sink.

"This is too bad, Jackie," said Uncle Wiggily, "but it might be worse. I have some stickum plaster and I can mend your drum with it!"

"Oh, can you?" cried Jackie. "Please do."

So the bunny stuck some stickum plaster over the crack in the drum and soon the doggie boy could drum on it—"Boom! Boom! Boom!" as well as ever.

And it is a good thing he could, for, all of a sudden, the Fuzzy Fox, who had been creeping after Uncle Wiggily, slipped into the doggie house. The Fox was just going to nibble the bunny's ears, but Jackie quickly beat his mended Christmas drum.

"Boom! Boom! Boom!" thundered the drum.

"Oh, the soldiers are coming to shoot me! The soldiers are coming after me!" howled the Fox when he heard the drum, in the next room. Not seeing the doggie boy, the Fox thought it was a soldier drum that was booming,

"It's broken!" whined Jackie and out of the window the bad chap jumped.

"It's a good thing I cut my paw and went after the stickum plaster, Jackie," said Uncle Wiggily. "Else I couldn't have mended your drum and you couldn't have frightened away the Fox. Everything happened for the best. Thank you, Jackie!"

"And than you for mending my drum," barked the doggie boy. Then the bunny gentleman hopped home with his stickum plaster and told Nurse Jane his adventure.

And if the strawberry shortcake doesn't grow so long that it stretches from the front door to the back, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Toodle's tooter.

Your family will enjoy the different flavor of the following cakes made with honey:

Honey Cup Cakes: Cream together one-third cup of butter and one-half cup of granlated sugar; add a mixture made by beating two eggs with the rind and juice fo one lemon. Sift together two and one-eighth cups of pastry flour (or the same amount of bread flour with two tablespoons of dry cornstrach added to the cupful—which makes bread flour almost like pastry flour) two teaspoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Add this dry mixture to the other mixture, then also add three-quarters of a cup of broken walnut meats. Bake in greased cup-cake pans for twenty-five minutes in a hot oven (or in loaf-cake form for forty minutes in a medium oven).

Boiled Honey Icing for Cakes: Boil one-third cup of honey until thick. Flavor with one teaspoon of lemon juice and pour this thick honey on the stiffly-whipped white of one egg; now add three marshmaliows cut small, and beat hard till the mixture is soft and creamy. Spread at once on cake. Here is another honey icing:

Simple Honey Icing: Beat two egg-whites very stiff then add to them one cup of honey which you have boiled for ten minutes. Beat constantly as you pour the honey into the egg and continue to beat till very stiff. Then spread it on cake.

Honey Drop Cakes: Cream together one-half cup of butter and one-half cup of granulated sugar; add the beaten yolks of two eggs, the grated rind of one lemon and the juice of three lemons. Sift together three cups of pastry flour, a pinch of salt, and one teaspoon of baking soda; stir this dry mixture into the first mixture alternately with one cup of honey. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and add one cup of chopped nut meats mixed with a little extra flour (about one-fourth cupful). Drop this batter by teaspoonsfuls, onto a buttered pan, two inches apart, and bake about twelve minutes (or fifteen) in a moderate oven. (Sprinkle with shredded cocoanut before baking if desired).

"Honey Raisin Cakes: Mix one broken yeast-cake with one cup of lukewarm milk; when yeast is dissolved, add two cups of bread flour and set to rise in a warm place till the surface is covered with bubbles. Now beat together one-half cup of butter and one cup of honey till creamy; add two beaten eggs, the rind of one lemon, one-half teaspoon ground nutmeg and the yeast-cake mixture. Stir in one hand one-half cups of extra flour, onehalf teaspoon of salt, and one and one-half cups of seedless raisins. Mix and turn into a greased loaf-cake pan; let rise till light, then bake one hour in a moderately hot oven." Contributed by "Alice."

Dinner Stories

A tourist passing through a village found that his watch had stopped, says London Answers. Seeing a little boy standing outside the general store, he went up to him and said:

"Can you tell me the time, sonny?"

"Just 12 o'clock," was the reply.

"Only 12?" said the tourist. "I thought it was more than that."

"It's never any more in these parts, sir," answered the boy. "It goes up to 12 o'clock and then commences again at 1."

As soon as the order was issued, 22,675 dressmakers along the well known Atlantic seaboard received instructions to begin work at once on beautiful one-piece bathing suits.

One word from the Atlantic City authorities and the girls—do as they please.

If the authorities had announced that one-piece bathing suits were urged for all young ladies this season, there would not have been a one-piece suit in sight along the beach during the entire summer. She, hesitatingly, "Did you ever—ever love any other girl?"

"No, Alice—you are the first girl I ever loved, the only girl I ever will love."

"Oh, John, I knew it! I love you more than ever." She flushed with pleasure, raised her chin, and looked at him expectantly through long lashes. He took three cigars from his vest pocket, laid them on the table beside the sofa, and started to take her in his arms.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ANSWERS TO CORESPONDENTS

Mrs. S.—Instead of being more apt to contract serious throat and lung troubles after your enlarged and chronically diseased tonsils are out, you are considerably less apt to contract not only these, but many other troubles. Chronically diseased tonsils have not only lost their function of filtering out disease germs, but they take an active part in supplying disease germs and poisons to the system, and joint and heart trouble are very apt to follow sooner or later if they are not removed.

The tonsilar tissue is similar to lymph gland tissue and there are lymph glands all over the body, so you are not going to be deprived of all of this type of tissue by any means. Healthy tonsils serve a good purpose in the body, but when they become chronically diseased they had better be taken out. Thousands of people can testify to much better health after their diseased tonsils have been removed.

H. H.—If you are feeling perfectly well you need not worry about your menstruation stopping for a period. It will probably reestablish itself. If it does not, your reduction in weight is not the cause of the cessation. Sometimes there is a premature stopping of the menstruation when there is normal health. It probably is an inherited characteristic.

Mr. M. C.—You say you don't want to give your age. You are disproving the theory that women are the only ones who do not like to give their ages. 'S all right! I've stopped telling mine, too. You say you are ten pounds underweight by the rule of 110 pounds for five feet in height, plus five and a half pounds for every inch over that. As you are so well I think I would not try to gain. Insurance statistics show that those who are ten pounds or even more underweight in middle and old age are usually healthier and have a longer life expectancy.

Mrs. J.—Your letter was fully five times as long as the rules of the column allow. All I had time to read was that for years your tonsils have troubled you very much and you have had quinsy at least twice a year and that you finally became so filled with the poisons from them that you had them taken out. It was a year before you fully recovered and then you had the flu; since then you have been an invalid, suffering with all sorts of aches and pains in your muscles and joints.

This letter ought to be a lesson to those who believe that the tonsile should never be removed no matted how bad they are. (I hope Mrs. S., whom I answered above, is reading this.)

It is possible that you are still suffering from the effects of the poison your tonsils distributed to your system.

But wait—I read still another line. You are five feet one inch in height and weigh 136 pounds. Ah—ha! We have another clue. You are 16 pounds overweight. Go on our reduction diet and I predict a lot of your muscular and joint pains will tag along your lost weight. Send for our pamphlet on reducing. (Enclose a fully self-addressed and stamped envelope and four cents in stamps.) We have tons of letters from those who have reduced saying they have lost all sorts of aches and pains with their loss of weight. Ask for the article: "It won't be any easier tomorrow," when you send for the reducing pamphlet.

Mrs. G.—Believe me, I am happy to know that you have given birth to a healthy baby girl and that you give our advice on diet for expectant mothers a large part of the credit. The diet for the nursing mother is the same as that for the expectant mother, so you just continue on it.

You can overcome your self-consciousness if you realize that people around you are not thinking of you; they are too busy thinking of themselves! Just go along being your nice, sweet, helpful self and you will overcome it, I'm sure.

B.—We have an article on neuritis, and also one on balanced diet which you may have by following the rules of the column.

Tomorrow—Monthly Form Letter

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Paderewiski, prince of pianists, tells an amusing story of a lady who fancied herself as a vocalist. One day while playing the accompaniment to one of her songs, she came to the conclusion that the piano did not sound right somehow, and telephoned for a tuner. The man came, and found the instrument in perfect order. However, he pottered about for a while, pocketed his fee, and departed. A few days later his employer received another telephone message from the lady. Her piano, she complained, had not been properly tuned. It was no better than before, and she was very disappointed. After receiving a reprimand from his employer, the hapless tuner made another trip and again tested every note, only to find, as previously, no fault with the instrument. This time he told the lady so. "Yes," she said, "it does sound all right, doesn't it, when you play on it; but as soon as I begin to sing it gets all out of tune."—Literary Digest.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman forty-eight years old and have a daughter twenty-two years old. For some time my daughter and I have not lived with my husband. His business is in another city and we came here to get away from him.

It is difficult to understand our case because my husband has never done any of the things which usually cause divorce. He does not drink and he has never gone with other women, but he is mentally cruel. He has always been so superior and cutting that he has made life utterly miserable for his own daughter and me. He has always been moody to an extreme and has gone days at a time scarcely speaking to me.

Ever since we have been living here he has sent us money and has seemed perfectly willing to do so. My daughter works, but my health is poor and I cannot. I have consulted a lawyer and find that I can get a divorce or legal separation on some of the difficulties which have come up in our married life. My husband says he will not fight the case and I can go ahead and do as I wish. The lawyer semes to favor legal separation so that I will be sure of support and so my husband will not marry again. I didn't know what to decide and would therefore like your opinion.

MRS. DOROTHY R.

Your lawyer knows your case far better than I do, and therefore I would advise you to consider the matter carefully before you take my advice. It seems to me, however, that divorce would be preferable to legal separation. I cannot understand why a wife wants to be free from a man and at the same time prevent him from marrying again. Since you are asking for freedom, it seems to me fairer to free your husband completely except for the alimony which he seems perfectly willing you should receive.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl in my early teens. There is a boy who comes to see me and he goes with almost every girl he sees. He is also easy to anger. He wants me to take anything from him, and he does not want to take anything from me. Therefore he goes away and stays three or four weeks at a time. Then he comes back and receives my company just the same. What shall I do? P. S.

The boy must make a very unsatisfactory friend. Since he is so easily offended, it seems to me you are wasting your time putting up with his touchiness. The next time he stays away to punish you, do not let him come back.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am in love with a boy and we can't agree. He pays more attention to others than he does to me. Will you tell me what the trouble is? He won't leave me alone and still wants to go with others.

BROWN-EYED SUSAN.

You want a lover and the young man wants a friend. He is not ready to settle down to one girl, but nevertheless he enjoys your company. I would advise you to accept him as a friend, which, of course, would not give him the privilege of love-making. He has no right to ask that while he goes with other girls. Do not oppose his various friendships, because he will resent your interference with his freedom.

POEMS That LIVE

IN A LONDON SQUARE

Put forth thy leaf, thou lofty plane,
East wind and frost are safely gone;
With zephyr mild and balmy rain
The summer comes serenely on;
Earth, air, and sun and skies combine
To promise all that's kind and fair;—
But thou, O human heart of mine,
Be still, contain thyself, and bear.
December days were brief and chill,
The winds of March were wild and drear,
And, nearing and receding still,
Spring never would, we thought, be here.
The leaves that burst, the suns that shine,
Had, not the less, their certain date;—
And thou, O human heart of mine,
Be still, refrain thyself, and wait.

BEAUTY CHATS

By EDNA KENT FORBES

BEAUTIFUL BRIGHT EYES

The beauty of the eye may be due to its shape and color, but its brightness is due to good health or animation. Tired eyes, over-worked eyes, eyes which take no interest in things about them are bound to be dull and lifeless.

You cannot put anything into the eyes to make them artificially beautiful. You can and should wash them out now and then, preferably with a weak solution of boracic acid, or if there is anything specially wrong with them, with some lotion recommended by your doctor. A little weak salt water either warm or cold, is strengthening to them, and pure water is also good. Often eyes that are dull and tired can be made to look fresh simply by bathing with an eyecup. Often holding hot compresses over them, followed by bathing with cold water, will so refresh them that it will restore their brightness and beauty even when they were most tired.

One of the most annoying things to have is a stye. Doctors say that bathing the eye with myrtle or chamomile water is a preventive. If a stye begins to gather it is really best to go to a doctor and ask for some ointment to scatter it. Often bathing with alternately hot and cold water will do this. At the same time a laxative should be taken, and the diet reduced to very easily digested things. If the stye cannot be scattered a warm bread and milk or flax seed poultice is often used to bring it to a head, then it is lanced (get a doctor to do this, if possible) and bathed with astringents.

If there is a gummy sceretion that sticks the eyelids together while asleep it shows a diseased state of the ciliary glands, often it is the first sympton of opthalmia. It is always best to get a curative ointment from a doctor. Swollen eyelids may be due only to long exposure to the cold, to dust and gritty particles settling in the eyelashes, fatigue, smoke or sleeping in stale air.

Freckles: Henna only comes in the one shade. The different effects upon the hair are due to the length of time the henna is left on. Cucumber juice used on the hands will keep freckles bleached so they do not disfigure.

E. C. B.: Use a mild astringent on the skin several times a week and massage with a nourishing cream.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Alice Calhoun, who has the leading feminine role in "Pioneer Trails," which is showing its fourth day at the Glendale Theatre today, has a fine private collection of Indian costumes. Two rooms of her hacienda in South ern California are given to the display of these unusual costumes.

An interesting item in her collection is a war bonnet worn by Red Jacket, one of the spectacular figures in the history of the American Indian.

Miss Calhoun plays unusual roles in "Pioneer Trains." She is seen as Rose Miller, the heroine of the film. Cullen Landis, the dashing screen star, plays opposite her. He is seen in one of the most spectacular parts he has ever played. Otis Harlan, Bertram Grassby and other stars are found in the cast.

"Pioneer Trails" is another screen triumph directed by David Smith, who made "The Midnight Alarm," "Masters of Men" and "The Ninety and Nine."

THE GATEWAY

A story full of heart throbs as well as corpuscies is "The Miracle Baby." Harry Carey's latest, which is showing at the Gateway Theatre today.

The story deals with the experience of a young assayer in a western mining town who is given "salted" ore from a claim which is on sale to assay and informs the father of his sweetheart, who deals in mines, of an apparently good "buy". How this complication leads the young assayer into all kinds of troubles and makes him a fugitive, only to find refuge in the Sierras in the cabin of an old prospector whose son he is supposed to have killed, forms the thread of this absorbing story.

"The Miracle Baby" was directed by Val Paul. In its cast are Margaret Landis, leading lady; Charles J. LeMoyne, Hedda Nova, Edward Hearn, Edmund Cobb, Alfred Allen and Bert Sportte.

Right Against Might Awards Mother Child

AKRON, Ohio, Dec. 26.—"It isn't so much a question of law as it is a question of right. The mother sacrificed that the child might have birth. She is entitled to her companionship."

This was the reasoning of the court of appeals here in deciding that Mrs. Mary Cox was entitled to the custody of her daughter, Thistle, aged 5.

The decision, which ends a court fight that has stretched over more than two years, gave to the mother custody of her daughter for the first time in three years.

Sampson and Inez Cox, aunt and uncle of the little girl, had cared for her since babyhood and fought through two courts unsuccessfully to continue their guardianship.

Earliest recorded invention of a typewriter was by an Englishman in 1714.

Much Strife Seen In Ohio's Election

Burke, of Elyria, owner of the Elyria Chronicle-Telegram and the Bucyrus Telegraph. Burke has been a member of the Ohio senate for three years and in that body displayed an intense independence of the party yoke. He was greatly interested in legislation limiting hours of work for women and children and in strengthening "dry" enactments.

Reform Platform

He has presented to the voters a platform bristling with reforms and will make a state-wide campaign.

Others expected to enter the lists are: Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, of Cleveland, defeated two years ago; ex-Governor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, who did not seek a second term; Congressman John L. Cable, of Lima, twice elected in a Democratic district; Congressman Roy Fitzgerald, of Dayton, who represents the district for which Mr. Cox was once spokesman; former Congressman Roscoe McCulloch, of Canton, now a special assistant attorney general, and at least half a dozen others throughout the state are said to have their lightning rods up.

On the Democratic side efforts of those opposed to Governor Donahey have thus far failed to develop a strong contender, but it's a long time until next June, when the lists close, and predictions are heard on every side that a man will be found who can command sufficient support to warrant making a fight.

"They fairly radiate cleanliness," a patron told us when we returned her bundle of newly laundered clothes. And, could you have seen them, you would have said so, too. Students Home For Christmas Holidays

Many Pacific Union college students are visiting in this city. Glendale has more students attending this college than has any other city in the state.

Pacific Union college is located at La Jota, Napa county, near St. Helena. It is built upon the old volcanic crater of Howell mountain. Mt. St. Helena, where Robert Louis Stevenson gained much inspiration for his work, is only a few miles distant.

The estate comprises 1800 acres of which all is forest except one hundred acres in the valleys.

The college is, in a sense, an industrial school, for each student performs manual labor for two hours each day. Many earn their way by working in the woods and on the farm.

Value of soft drinks, exclusive of mineral waters, consumed in the United States and possessions in a year, is $618,394,566.

Hours of the working women in Japan are from ten to fifteen a day.

LA CRESCENTA
YULETIDE GIFTS BRING PLEASURE

Christmas Is Joyous Season In Foothill Towns as Happiness Reigns

Christmas morning dawned bright and clear here in the mountains, and many were the tired fathers and mothers who were aroused before daylight to see what Santa had left.

One family was made quite happy with a new piano, one or two with new cars, while the radio answered the anxious question for several households in the community. Some of the kiddies almost wore out the tires on their new bicycles and tricycles, showing them off.

Then the poor little kiddies who had no daddies, or had sick daddies and hard working mothers, were not forgotten, as the Parent-Teacher association and the Girl Scouts turned over their baskets and toys to the American Legion, newly formed up here, who looked after those who needed it, though with a spirit of community pride we feel there are not many such cases in our midst.

Glendale Elks Help

The Glendale B. P. O. E., familiarly known as the Best People on Earth, from the good work they do, visited up here on Christmas morning as there are two or three fatherless homes in the community, where these good fellows always see the kiddies are never forgotten.

So another Christmas day has come and gone, and now father will settle down to mend the old bank account, and get ready for next year as the younger generation, no doubt, will be expecting cars in their stockings by that time, and sister will, of course, have to have the latest in furs.

Mother? Well, after cleaning up and putting the ornaments up in the attic, she will draw a deep breath of satisfaction, knowing there will be no big family reunion to plan and cook for until at least the Fourth of July, and that's a few months away, so she will have nothing to do but cook three meals a day, do a bit of sewing and tidying up, until spring house cleaning rolls around; oh yes, mother can take it easy, now that Christmas is over.

The Community church will have their weekly sing tonight in the West Montrose avenue church. It is expected the usual number will be present and hoped they will bring their neighbors and friends.

Plan Watch Service

On Old Year's Night there will be a midnight watch service, the program for the evening is as follows:

From 9 to 10 p. m.—The men's society of the church will reorganize; while the Brotherhood are busy with this work the ladies will be visiting each other down stairs.

10 to 11 p. m.—Will be the social hour in the basement. Refreshments will be served to keep up the spirits of the watchers.

11 p. m. to 12 m.—Devotional service, whereby the New Year will be ushered in with appropriate ceremonies.

On Friday afternoon of this week the Ladies' Missionary Society and Service League will meet in the basement rooms of the church. All are cordially invited to attend. Rev. Kelso announces the first Sunday of 1924 will be Communion Sunday in the church and all, members or not, are cordially invited to join in this service. The regular church services will be held on Sunday next.

San Fernando Valley Cities Anticipate Prosperity In Coming Year

With the record year of 1923 drawing to a close, all towns of the San Fernando valley are looking forward eagerly to the new year, confident that still greater achievements are to be registered in the twelve months ahead.

Lankershim, situated where the valley begins, anticipates the greatest growth, and, according to local realty men, outside buyers are eagerly acquiring property there. The numerous city departments slated will cause the erection of many city blocks, which in turn will have much to do with establishing a much larger population. A hotel, moreover, is to be built, which will assuredly turn the tide from a town to a city. A population of 25,000 by 1930 is confidently expected.

Van Nuys is another valley town that is making rapid strides, benefiting to the full extent by the increased traffic flowing by in two directions, while Burbank, lying next to Glendale, the San Fernando valley's leader, has perhaps the best set of books of all, this Yuletide season, winding up the year with a total of approximately $2,000,000 in building permits.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce held their annual Hi Jinks meeting at Girard last Tuesday night, with over 100 guests present, from every part of the valley, and a capable orchestra furnished by the Girard chamber.

Victor Girard spoke, as did Supervisor H. W. Wright, Boyle Workman, president of the Los Angeles City Council, and other notables. A number of interesting stunts were then put on, following which election took place, with the following results:

Dr. W. H. Gundrum, Owensmouth, president; W. E. Hodgis, Mission Acres, N. A. Gray of Chatsworth, and Dr. J. E. Breidt of Tujunga were chosen vice presidents, and O. J. Renfrew was elected secretary-treasurer.

Santa Burns to Death

Herman Nollenberger of Bouquet canyon was burned to death while dressed in a Santa Claus costume on December 17. He was seated in a car outside the church when his costume ignited, and despite his efforts to save himself, he was burned so badly that he died at the Burbank hospital on December 18.

He was a brother of P. O. Nollenberger of Burbank and is survived by a wife and three children.

Sewer System Great Need
Working Out Own Salvation
Economy Gradually Spreads
Prepare For Big 1924 Now

By Gil A. Cowan

Development of this prosperous section of Southern California calls for a broad-minded policy. Otherwise our plans would result in early failure.

Not only is Los Angeles faced with big problems which must be met in a masterful way, but Glendale and its suburban communities have issues which must be squarely faced.

For instance, the necessity of a sewage system for this city is so apparent that the citizens should gladly go to the polls on January 8 and vote 100 per cent for the $1,600,000 bond issue.

No one can emphasize the need for this improvement too strongly. It is an issue which cannot be dodged by mere talk. It is not a debatable subject. And it is the one thing Glendale needs more than anything else—sewage disposal. Therefore, we must have it.

As for our suburbs, the people of La Crescenta and Montrose districts need water. These thriving communities are served by a mutual water company which must increase its capitalization by $150,000. It is very necessary that the stockholders do this.

Indeed, it will soon be necessary for these outlying sections either to annex to Glendale or incorporate, for their growth merits city improvements and their peoples will see the wisdom of corporate government. We are not urging annexation particularly, for if Montrose, La Crescenta and Tujunga towns can solve their problems by local government it will be good, if not better, than being a part of a great city.

The same argument holds true in case of Glendale and Los Angeles. We have a few confirmed annexationists hereabout who do do not seem to appreciate the benefits of local government. Which is neither here nor there. The fact remains that growing communities can best work out their problems in their own ways and means.

Development of this section calls for just that—indeed, it has been the highway to Glendale's rapid growth which should not be retarded by any thought of penny wise and pound foolish proposals.

California may be thankful for the Richardson regime at Sacramento. It has been a blessing to this particular section, although to hear some of the politicians wail one would think that the program of economy and efficiency had been a failure.

However, from observation gained by touring over a large part of the state the writer finds that the honest effort to reduce the cost of government has resulted in greater efficiency on the part of practically all public servants. And that in itself is good.

A dollar's worth of government for every 100 cents spent in taxes is a good bargain, and that is what the people wanted when they expressed a desire for Friend W. Richardson to take over the reins of government. He is succeeding.

But it is a fight in which several boards and commissions and high officials have failed to accept the mandate of the people. They have failed to recognize the handwriting on the wall. And perhaps it is good, for should one of their number be placed in the race to succeed Richardson it would result in a further continuance of the present regime.

At this early date names need not be mentioned, yet it is easy to see that certain of the old machine are heading the wreckage for the junk pile while Governor Richardson is busy accomplishing results in a blunt, practical way that arouses the admiration of the business man and farmer alike. He is not playing for the plaudits of the pedagogues.

Now that Christmas is over—a subject to which a column might be devoted—the people of this vicinity should settle themselves to the business of the new year. True, invoicing is in order, but, Mr. Merchant, we heartily advise you to make plans for the bigger, better business to be done in 1924.

The Christmas trade was indicative of the possibilities in Glendale, and from reports of Saturday and Monday's sales totals in local establishments we have every reason to believe that Glendale is one of the best merchandising fields in Southern California today.

Indeed, were we to have our choice of the entire coast in which to establish a successful business, there is no reason why Glendale would not be that place. True, there will be some who cannot succeed here or elsewhere, but it is not this city's fault.

And that's that!

HARROWER STAFF WEARING SMILES

Employes of Laboratory All Seem Pleased at Gift Left by Santa

What did the Henry R. Harrower Laboratory give its employes for Christmas? That is the question. Just what did it take to make those employes smile so appreciatively and so comfortably this morning?

And just how much giving did it take to provoke that complacent smile on the face of the manager, R. W. Spicer, and to satisfy his convictions as to the administering of Christmas cheer?

"What gift did our employes receive?" he repeated with a smile, "O, that's a very deep secret." Then in a real managerial tone of voice, he said, "No, we cannot have that made public; this company does not appreciate the combination of notoriety and benevolence."

The employes when questioned would smile more broadly and guardingly say, "We cannot yet understand it, and we don't know but that we are expected not to tell it."

Mystery Remains

So the matter stands. They may have received a box of candy, and again, they may have received—well—a check somewhat out of proportion.

Dr. Henry R. Harrower opened the medical laboratory on the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, March 6, 1918, with three employes and with a financial backing equivalent to the three employes. In 1921 the beautiful buildings were built on Belmont street and Broadway, and occupied.

There are some over one hundred employes now—who work five days a week, and eight hours a day. Many are women. The lowest salary received is $75 a month. The company has branch offices in Kansas City, Mo.; Portland, Ore.; Chicago, Ill.; Dallas, Texts, Atlanta, Ga., and Baltimore, Md.
